Council Takes Action To Have Magistrate's Court Held In Stirling

Sherk Construction To Set Up Office At South End of Municipal Parking Lot

At the regular monthly meeting of Village Council on Monday night action was taken in an endeavour to have Magistrate's Court held in this Village periodically. It was the opinion of Councillors that such action would considerably reduce the cost of the administration of justice to the Village. After considerable discussion in which D. W. Rodgers, local Justice of the Peace took part, Clerk Mallory was instructed to write Magistrate R. C. Jackson making a request that court be held here periodically, on motion of Councillors Tompkins and Bateman.

Reeve K. Ray presided and all members of Council were present.

Clerk Mallory advised Council that Mr. Clarke, of Sherk Construction, was in town and had requested that Council provide a central site for the erection of two office buildings. After consideration Council suggested the south end of the Municipal Parking Lot on the corner of Emily and Church Streets.

The report of Police Chief Sutherland was presented and after perusal by the Council was adopted on motion of West and Morton.

Don Rodgers, chairman of the Stirling-Rawdon District High School Board, addressed Council on school matters.

Correspondence was tabled from Mrs. C. Gillespie, secretary of the St. John Ambulance Fund, requesting a donation, but no action was taken; also from J. V. Ludgate, re supplementary road bylaw and the Road Estimate bylaw, which will be passed prior to March 31st next; from the Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers' Association, re membership; Hisey & Barrington, consulting engineers, enclosing complete set of plans which are to remain in the municipal office; J. W. Wright, re increase in public liability insurance on fire truck; Trent Valley Police Association relative to raising the salaries of municipal police in keeping with those paid in other centres; and H. C. Martin, re premiums on truck insurance.

The matter of the request from the Police Association was laid over until next meeting of Council.

J. W. Wright interviewed Council relative to insurance on the Village truck. After discussion the offer of Mr. Wright was accepted for public liability and fire and theft insurance.

C. E. Macklin addressed Council regarding the various tools required and it was agreed that he be given authority to purchase any minor items as required, providing he initial all purchases.

Clerk Mallory introduced the matter of having the cemetery record book rewritten as the present one was becoming badly mutilated. The matter was left with the Cemetery Committee.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

Mouck Hardware, $8.93; J. W. Wright, $3.90; H. E. Cooke, snow removal, $3.00; Chas. F. Davidson, $30.25; H.A.P.E. Mutual Aid, $10.00; Bell Telephone, $22.35; A. Elliott, $18.00; Wesley Brooks, $52.50; Municipal World, $21.00; J. A. Osterhout, $47.50; Wm. Sutherland, $43.20; Don Tucker, $12.00; Clifford Sine, $27.00; Bell Telephone, $17.60.

Councillor Tompkins reported requests from several residents for cutting of trees, which were damaging roofs or in a dangerous condition. The matter was left with the Property Committee.

These races were well received last year and should prove to be an exciting climax to the programme.

A period of free skating for all and the distribution of novelties will conclude the entertainment.

All that remains to make this event the usual outstanding evening's fun is a good crowd of participants and a bigger crowd of spectators. Everybody dress up a bit and come along, and have fun.

Boy Scout Week Feb. 16th to 21st

The week of February 16th will be Boy Scout Week in Canada, when all groups will celebrate the birthday of Lord Baden Powell, the founder of the Boy Scouts. Displays, parties and father and son banquets will be held during the week, with all groups attending their church on Sunday, February 22nd.

Stirling has a full group which is a Cub Pack, Scout Troop and Rover Crew. Guides, Brownies and now Rangers make up the girls side of the group.

The Scout group has over one hundred boys enrolled, with nine leaders. Six local men make up the group committee.

The Scout group has enjoyed a very successful year. The Scouts attended the Trent Valley Camporee and made a very good showing. They worked the four days of the Centennial and had a booth at the Stirling Fair.

The Cubs went to the field day held in Norwood and most of the boys received their athlete's badge. An ice cream social was held to make money for the Cub camp where over 30 boys attended. They also collected six quart baskets to augment their funds. This group has never asked for help in money, the boys always get out and work for what they want.

The Scouts have a bank balance of $306.55 and the Cubs have $271.15, which shows that the boys have worked hard.

The Scouts took the job of looking after the park and did a good job; they hope they can do the same this year.

The group committee is composed of Bill Heath, chairman; S. McArton, D. Duffin, H. Baker, R. D. Cooke and X. P. Mayhew. These men look after the group and help anytime they are called on. They look after the quota which is paid into headquarters each year, and to do this they sell membership tickets and soon will be asking you to buy one. They have to pay over one hundred dollars.

The group, with the Guides and Brownies, will be attending St. Paul's United Church on Sunday, February 22nd. Parents are asked to see that their children attend this service. If unable to attend this service they are asked to go to their own church in uniform.

Secondary Teachers Annual Conference

The staff of Stirling High School will join the other Secondary school teachers of District 23, Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation on Friday, February 6th, when they gather at Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School for their annual Educational Conference. The guest speaker for the occasion is the distinguished educator, Dr. Vibert Douglas, Professor of Astronomy at Queen's University, who will tell of her travels in Russia during a recent world gathering of astronomers.

The morning sessions of the conference will be devoted to subject matter discussions in which each teacher joins the group studying the subject which he is teaching. Through hearing authorities and exchanging ideas, the high school teachers strive to make themselves ever better teachers of their own subjects.

To date the names of guest speakers in two groups have been announced. The Mathematics Section will hear Professor Petrie from the Ontario College of Education in Toronto, and Professor N. Miller of Queen's University. In the Science Section, teachers will hear Professor R. O. Earl of Queen's University.

National Health Week

Since so much is left to voluntary influences and held in the field of National Health — all should concern themselves with the problem. It is true that the Government is becoming more closely occupied with the problem, and that we are drifting toward the one time hateful "Welfare State." There is yet much that will remain for voluntary organizations and individual care.

It will, we doubt not, still be courted death to travel down the street in your car, for the order of accidental deaths which kill 50 percent more people than contagious diseases and infection is — highway killings, home, drowning and fire. One out of every 50 Canadians is an alcoholic — the number having doubled in ten years.

Infant mortality is disastrous in this country — of 475,930 children born in 1957, 6,837 were still born, 14,517 died in their first year and 9,478 died in their first month.

Only one Canadian in six has even a minimum degree of physical fitness and fifty percent of all sicknesses can be prevented.

It's a dull and deadly list and every one of us can do something about it if we will.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

The St. Paul's Bible Class presented a hymnary on Sunday morning for dedication to the memory of Mrs. Herb Bush, who for many years was a valued and faithful member of the Church and Class.

The St. Paul's Sunday School Staff meeting was held on Monday evening and the election of officers was held. Mrs. X. P. Mayhew continues as Secretary and Mr. Grant Stapley as Treasurer. Mrs. Doug Patterson is Treasurer of the "Gift Fund." A Secretary for publications is needed at once and one or two teachers.

The ravages caused by fire, insects, and disease in the forests of Canada are excessive.

Entered Into Rest

JOHN WILSON CHARD

A life long resident of Stirling and district, John Wilson Chard, of Brighton, died at the Trenton Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, January 27th, after being ill for only a day. He was in his 88th year.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chard, he was born in Rawdon Township and in his active years was engaged in farming in the Stirling area. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church. His wife, the former Catherine Jechalla Lyons, predeceased him 38 years ago. The past 12 years he resided in Brighton.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Frank (Mae) Sprentall, Stirling; Mrs. Jean Green, of Frankford; Mrs. T. W. (Kathleen) Stride, of Vancouver, B.C.; and two sons, Walter, of Weyburn, Sask., and Percy, Toronto. One son, Ernest, died in Alberta in 1918.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Baker, Mrs. Nellie Offer and Miss Kate Chard, all of Brandon, Man., and one brother, Alfred Chard, of Victoria, B.C. There are eight grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, on Thursday, January 29th at 2.00 p.m. with the Rev. Russell Gale officiating.

The pallbearers were Messrs. J. B. Belshaw, Harper Rollins, Earl Morrow, Robert Patterson, Alex Bush and Chas. Vance.

Entombment was in the Stirling Cemetery Vault.

Horticultural Society Hints

There are no two gardeners who agree on the exact formula for success in growing African Violets, but there are some basic rules.

Violets will flower for about ten months of the year. Usually best in the cooler months. They should not be fussed over if they're to flower, too much food and water will only make the buds fall off.

Use water that's warm, even fairly hot during the cold weather.

Prompt clipping off of all spent flower stems insures your plants always looking their best. Use sharp shears.

With attention to the health of the main crown, small competing growths are pulled off before they get any size. Then press toothpicks into soil to space remaining leaves in pattern of spoke like symmetry. Little abrasions made by rough pot edges and the accumulation of soil salts on the surface are jointly responsible for loss of many leaves. Test pot rims for smoothness, favorites not quite smooth enough should be dipped in hot paraffin or shellacked or covered with scotch tape.

A good way to dust the leaves, is to take a yellowed or superfluous leaf and use its hairy surface as you waved a brush, stroke from bases of leaves toward tips.

In even the best groomed collections, the wily mealybug pest can sometimes be found, they gather in the leaf crevices, are easy to see because they are cottony white. Dip cotton swab in nail-polish remover or cologne and touch all white dots, repeat every third day until none can be seen.

Special African Violet spray control all other pests. Use these with a fine atomizer, coat leaf axils thoroughly.

NEW DISTRIBUTION METHODS

The use of paperboard has revolutionized distribution methods. Modern packaging permitted the development of chain stores, super-markets, shopping centres, and the frozen food industry.

Self-made men should be more careful in selecting the materials they use.

INQUIRY WELCOME

Gordon Greer, of Ottawa, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said Sunday a provincial inquiry into handling, storing and processing of farm produce, indicated in the legislature last week, is "long overdue." Amendments to be proposed for the Milk Industry Act which would strengthen producer marketing would be welcomed by the federation, he said, and there was need also for an accelerated farm safety programme.

In the recent passing of William Thomas Shaw this community has lost an old and highly respected citizen. He was born in Prince Edward County, but has resided in Huntingdon Township almost all of his life.

Mr. Shaw possessed a genial personality and was given to hospitality. He was a good neighbour and a faithful friend. He was well read and an ardent baseball and hockey enthusiast following the national and international games as well as the local matches.

Mr. Shaw was a loyal member of Stirling Lodge, No. 69, A.F. & A.M., and had often been heard to remark that his lodge held second place only to his church. In the community he has held many positions of trust.

He has faithfully served St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church as Secretary, Chairman of the Board and at the time of his death was Clerk of Session.

This community extends deepest sympathy to the sorrowing family.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Clarke, Stirling, were visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clarke. Honoured On 93rd Anniversary

Mr. Hiram Ashley, the oldest resident of the Madoc Junction Community, celebrated his 93rd birthday anniversary on Wednesday.

Mr. Ashley enjoys fairly good health, takes pleasure in listening to the radio and keeping informed on current events, enjoys visiting with friends and reminiscing on days gone by.

During the evening a pleasant time was enjoyed when some 25 friends — members of Eggleton Sunday School and near neighbours — gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley to extend congratulations and best wishes.

Mr. Murray Martin was chairman for a short programme. Several choruses were sung by members of the Sunday School. Paul Bridges played selections on his harmonica, which were very much enjoyed. Miss Joanne Reide and Allen Reide contributed several duets on their guitars which were greatly appreciated. All joined in singing a number of songs with Paul playing the accompaniment on his harmonica.

At the close of the programme Miss Annamae Clarke carried in a lovely lighted birthday cake and "Happy Birthday" was sung. KEEPING 'EM BREATHING!

This is a serious tribute to the medical profession, but I can't resist beginning with the gag about a newspaper reporter who asked an old gent for the secret of longevity, and was given the priceless answer, "Just keep breathing, son — keep breathing."

Inability to breathe freely is no joke, as thousands of asthmatics will tell you, and that's why I want to pay tribute right now to the medical doctors who have been encouraging an experiment full of promise for those who suffer from bronchial asthma.

The experiments began in — of all places — the Montreal Forum, scene of the Saturday night Hockey Broadcasts.

Hockey players are desperate if anything goes amiss with the functioning of their breathing apparatus. Plante, for example, had a long struggle with his breathing. Goyette, and even boom-boom Geoffrion had breathing problems. Fortunately, the famous Canadians had a physiotherapist superbly skilful in the art of keeping 'em breathing.

Fortunately, too, Montreal had a medical doctor who sometimes watched hockey. This doctor had an asthmatic patient, a problem patient over whom he had been worrying. Perhaps the physiotherapist who kept those players going could help a man with asthma! The doctor decided to try it. That was five years ago.

That was the beginning of an experiment. Bill Head, the physiotherapist, with the supervision and encouragement of the medical doctor (and soon other doctors, too, were sending patients and helping in the development of the method), found that his skill in manipulating the rib cage of an athlete could be used to help asthmatics, sometimes dramatically, nearly always considerably. Soon the patient is able to take over and do his or her own exercises to maintain the blessed relief.

So far, only sports writers, interested doctors, and some one hundred relieved patients have known about this exciting work. Doctors are traditionally shy of publicity; and Bill Head, a trained physiotherapist, but not a medical doctor, will need medical sponsorship and the facilities of a medical school or university if his mechanical treatment for bronchial asthma is to come into widespread use.

I have a notion that the sponsorship and the facilities will soon become available. Canadian doctors and the Canadian people have a reputation for sponsoring progress in any area where health is concerned.

The Ontario Safety League recommends the following as a short course in safer driving after dark, and in other conditions of poor visibility... Light Up, Slow Down.

THE FOOD BASKET

FRIED CHICKEN

Crisp and golden outside, tender and meaty inside... mmm, that's fried chicken! It is no longer a luxury, either, thanks to the plentiful supply of small chickens now available in Canadian food stores.

You probably have your own favourite fried chicken recipe but we'll wager that you haven't tried these variations recently tested and approved in Canada's Kitchen.

Lemon-Curry Fried Chicken

2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon curry powder

6 to 8 servings of fried chicken

Combine first three ingredients.

When fried chicken pieces are fork tender, spoon the sauce over them (skin side up) and continue frying, uncovered, for 10 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper before serving.

Honey-Apple Fried Chicken

1 cup apple juice
2 tablespoons liquid honey
1 cup finely chopped parsley

6 to 8 servings of fried chicken

Follow same method as for Lemon-Curry Fried Chicken recipe

Plum Sauce To Serve With Fried Chicken

1 cup applesauce
1 cup raisins

1-8 teaspoon nutmeg
1-8 teaspoon ginger

1 cup red plum jam
1 tablespoon vinegar

Few grains salt

Combine applesauce, raisins and spices in a saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes. Add plum jam, vinegar and salt and mix thoroughly. Chill and serve with fried chicken. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

Fried Chicken Recipe

(5 to 6 pounds cut up chicken)

Seasoned Flour:

1 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoons paprika

Fat for frying

Dredge pieces of chicken with seasoned flour and let stand on rack for 20 minutes.

Heat fat (1 inch deep) in a heavy frying pan until hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 30 seconds. Fry chicken uncovered 5 to 10 minutes, turning several times until uniform, golden brown. Cover closely, reduce heat and cook slowly until chicken is fork tender, 25 to 30 minutes.

To crisp skin remove cover and arrange pieces of chicken skin side up, then continue frying, uncovered, for 10 minutes longer. Drain on absorbent paper before serving. Six to eight servings.

Hearing Essential To Fuller Life

From every direction we are constantly bombarded with knowledge never learned in the classroom, states a release from the Health League of Canada. Through the spoken word, the strains of the orchestra, the everyday hum of traffic on the ground and over head, church, theatre, industry, all bringing their added learning through the medium of sound. How vital then is the ability to hear that sound. How tragic when the meaning of these things fade into the dimness of a murky dusk. Yet there are many thousands who are daily groping their bewildered way through a perpetual fog of half-words, half-sounds, that mean nothing.

The aim of the Canadian Hearing Society is to reach as many of these people as possible; a very difficult task when it is realized that the disability, because it is invisible, is so little recognized or understood by those with normal hearing.

We start with discovery and prevention in early childhood and deal with the legion of problems created by the loss of hearing in the child, the teenager, the young adult and the senior citizen.

Briefly the services provide:

- (1) To investigate the hearing loss of children and adults and to recommend the necessary action.
- (2) To advise the parents or guardian of children with impaired hearing and to assist the child.
- (3) To suggest the class adjustment of hard of hearing students to facilitate their education.
- (4) To aid in the placement of any students with impaired hearing on placement of adults with impaired hearing.
- (5) To provide medical examination of the ears and a scientific measurement of hearing capacity.
- (6) To give general and specific advice with reference to hearing aids; to provide aids without cost, if the case warrants it and to give auricular instruction to new users of the aid.

(7) To give personal counsel to help people overcome emotional problems created by their loss of hearing.

(8) To disseminate information concerning all aspects of the problem of hearing loss and to advise on all facilities in this regard.

(9) To provide after-care and advice for war veterans with impaired hearing.

RADIOS — TWEED DISTRICT

Old radios never die, they just fade away — just when you need them most. That is why radio equipment from most headquarters in the District was removed during the past week. The high frequency receivers are being modernized at the Department radio laboratory at Maple, the VHF (very high frequency) transceivers are being converted at Pye of Canada, Limited, Ajax, and the high frequency transmitters are being correspondingly revamped by Frank Cole, District Technician.

Since the use of radio in communications has so vastly increased during the past decade, the need for sensitive and highly selective equipment has become greater in order to overcome the problem of interference from and to other stations and from atmospheric conditions.

A yardstick of the increased use of radio at Tweed is the fact that, in 1953, 4,803 radiograms were processed, while in 1958 that number jumped to 10,662. Add to that the innumerable 'ad lib' messages to and from aircraft, towers, base stations, mobiles and portables, and it is evident that the equipment must be in condition to operate efficiently at all times.

FISH AND WILDLIFE

There has been many inquiries as to what species of fish can be taken during the winter months.

The following summary may be of interest to local anglers:

PIKE — Closing date March 31st (open all year in the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario)

PICKEREL — Closed in inland waters. Closing date in the Bay of Quinte, March 31st.

LAKE TROUT — Closed except in Renfrew County where the closing date is October 5th.

WHITEFISH — Open throughout the District

PERCH — Open throughout the District.

STURGEON — Closing date for inland waters, May 15th.

Non-Game Fish — No closed season

During the open season for deer and moose in the Tweed District there were 38 moose shot for 96 licences sold. In 1956, the first and only other year for an open season for moose in this District, there were 30 animals killed for 77 licences sold.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

"What, the Gospel of St. John worth $3,000?" exclaimed a gentleman recently while in conversation about the Scriptures in many languages.

In December, a copy of the Gospel of St. John in Mohawk, one of the few remaining copies of the original two thousand books printed in 1804, was presented by the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada to the Iroquois Institute of Studies on the Six Nations reservation in Brant County.

An Indian lady, Mrs. Jamieson, of Brantford, who has made a special study of Indian history, languages and literature possesses one of those rare copies of the Gospel of St. John. Mrs. Jamieson values her copy at about $3,000 in Canadian currency; its actual value to her is much greater because it conveys to her the real meaning of life.

Increasingly, people in all walks of life are discovering the Bible has a message for our generation.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

FARM ACCIDENT
SURVEY PLANS
NOW BEING MADE

Arrangements are now being made in Ontario counties and districts for the carrying out of the province-wide Farm Accident Survey, reports T. R. Hilliard, Director of the Extension Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The survey, under the supervision of the Extension Branch, will formally get under way on March 1st, 1959. It will attempt to determine the causes, types, extent, and cost of farm accidents in Ontario, and to disclose the farm accident picture for each county and district. The survey will conclude on February 29th, 1960.

"Just as improved farming practices are the result of scientific research applied to actual farming conditions, so can a sound farm safety program result only from research on actual farm accidents," states the Extension Branch Director. "Once the research is completed, farm safety programmes can be devised which are based on actual farming conditions."

It is estimated that approximately 7,000 Ontario farm people have agreed to act as farm accident reporters in the survey. They ask the co-operation of their neighbours in order that they may record all accidents occurring on Ontario farms over the one-year period.

"This spontaneous co-operation of Ontario farm people and farm organizations in carrying out this survey is very encouraging," says Mr. Hilliard. "It shows that the farm people are just as earnest as the Ontario Department of Agriculture that something be done about the farm accident problem. I know Ontario farm people will co-operate in supplying the necessary accident information to make this survey worthwhile."

PERFORMANCE TESTED
ANIMALS FEATURE
BEEF BULL SALE

W. P. Watson, Ontario Live Stock Commissioner and Secretary of the Ontario Beef Cattle Improvement Association said this week that 296 animals have been entered in this year's annual sale of beef bulls which will be held on March 4th and 5th in the Royal Winter Fair Buildings, Toronto.

Hereford lead in numbers with 135 bulls being entered for sale. Shorthorns are second with 131 being entered while the Aberdeen Angus breed are represented by 30 entries.

Interesting feature of this year's sale is the fact that one third of the animals offered are performance tested with the record indicating a gain of 2.30 pounds per day. Entered in the sale are 55 performance tested Herefords; 40 Shorthorns and 4 Aberdeen Angus. In addition it is expected that 24 other consigned bulls will complete the test before the sale is held.

Shorthorns are scheduled to be judged on the evening of Tuesday, March 3rd and sell on Wednesday, March 4th. Aberdeen Angus and Hereford show on Wednesday, March 4th, immediately following the Shorthorn sale and sell on Thursday, March 5th. Sales commence at 10 a.m. each day.

During the showing every bull will be inspected by the three men who will comprise the culling committee.

If two members consider that a bull is unsuitable for use as a sire he will not be eligible for the sale, but the owner may take him home. If three members reject a bull, he must be sold for slaughter.

CHICKS TAKE
RYE IN FEED

A moderate ration of rye may be fed successfully to growing chicks, it has been established by tests at the Experimental Farm, conducted by R. E. Smith, poultry nutritionist.

The experiment disproved a widely-held belief that rye was unsuitable feed for growing chicks. Mr. Smith established that rations containing up to 30 per cent rye could be fed to chicks from day-old to ten weeks of age without undue mortality or pasting. Growth was retarded however, as the level of rye exceeded 15 per cent, except when the rye was an ingredient of pelleted rations. In pelleted form the ration produced broilers superior to those on an all-mash corn ration but at a cost of a somewhat lower feed efficiency.

Use In Moderation

Mr. Smith's conclusions were that rye could be used economically in growing rations where the cereal is competitive with wheat and corn. If rapid growth was not the main consideration, 15 to 20 per cent rye may be fed in the all-mash form. For optimum results, rations containing rye should be pelleted and under these conditions a maximum of 30 per cent rye may be fed to broilers.

THE SELECTION OF A FARM TRACTOR

During the winter months, many farmers think about the purchase of a new tractor, and attend farm equipment shows where the latest models are displayed. What are some of the factors that should be considered in buying a farm tractor?

There are two main considerations: first, the type of tractor; and second, the make and model. There are three main types of tractor: three-point tricycle, suitable primarily for row-crop cultivation, but sometimes less stable across rolling land than other types; four-wheel type, generally more stable on rolling land than the three-point tricycle type but generally not as adaptable to row-crop cultivation; and finally, the track-type or crawler type, useful on steep slopes, and on loose and wet soils, but probably not as versatile as the other two types.

All types can be obtained in a large range of sizes. Only a few companies make all three types of tractors, many make the tricycle and four-wheel types, and a few companies make only the track type.

The local dealer is an important factor in the selection of any tractor. The farmer who intends to buy a tractor should consider the local dealer's reliability, his reputation for prompt and adequate service, and his facilities for undertaking major repairs.

There is some advantage in buying a type and make of tractor that is common in the area, since normally spare parts will be easier to get, service work should not be unduly difficult, and the trade-in value of the tractor may be higher. It may also make possible the exchange between neighbours of equipment which is developed to be used with the particular make of tractor.

All tractors made today are good machines, but a farmer should weigh carefully his requirements and the features of any tractor he considers buying, in order to make sure he secures the tractor best suited to his particular operation.

ECONOMIES IN RAISING BROOD SOWS

It is always a sound practice to introduce changes into the feeding and management programme which will reduce the cost of pork production, without in any way affecting the performance of the brood sow and her litter, states Prof. R. P. Forshaw, Department of Animal Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College.

First of all, the use of hand feeding rather than self-feeders will result in a saving. If self-feeders are used, it is necessary to add bulky materials such as oats, wheat bran, or alfalfa to the ration in order to reduce the intake of energy. This is done to prevent the sows from becoming overfat. These high-fibre feeds are frequently almost as expensive as the higher energy grains. While good results can be obtained by hand feeding a smaller amount of a higher energy sow ration during the main part of the gestation period, it is still desirable to use a somewhat bulkier ration just prior to farrowing. Six pounds per day of a well-balanced sow ration is adequate for brood sows. Sows on self-feeders frequently eat much more than this amount.

For the past three years the Animal Husbandry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College has been experimenting with the use of either grass or corn silage in the brood sow ration. Results have shown that, if a balanced ration is being used, which provides a measure of extra fortification, up to one third of the grain ration may be replaced by either corn silage or grass silage. Sows on the corn silage plus sow ration gain approximately one pound per day, whereas sows on the regular sow ration gain about one and a half pounds per day; but this slower gain in no way affects their performance. The pigs farrowed are equal in strength, and because the silage is cheaper than the sow ration which it replaces, this does result in cheaper pigs at weaning.

HERD MANAGEMENT
FACTOR IN
MASTITIS CONTROL

According to the Ontario Veterinary College future progress in the control of mastitis in dairy cattle will depend upon the application of known disease control measures. Treatment is only part of a control programme.

The solution to the problem lies in educating the dairyman and others interested in milk production. The veterinarian must be concerned about his responsibilities in the overall programme control.

Officials at the Ontario Veterinary College recommend good herd management, proper milking procedure, veterinary diagnosis when the disease appears and veterinary treatment of infected cases to control mastitis in dairy herds. When these four principles are utilized with close co-operation between the herd owner and his veterinarian the huge annual expenditure for drugs and the losses due to mastitis will be drastically reduced.

FULL PROGRAMME
ARRANGED FOR
PLOWMEN'S CONVENTION

The Annual Convention of the Ontario Plowmen's Association will be held this year in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on February 23rd and 24th. The programme has been planned to allow full discussion of the main problems encountered in plowing match activities.

The Convention opens at 1.30 on February 23rd with the President, Kenneth Bawden, of St. Thomas, acting as Chairman. "Our Views of the International Plowing Match," will be given by a number of officials. Following the evening dinner, there will be an illustrated report on the World Plowing Match held last year in Germany.

The programme on the second day will deal mainly with branch matches, with a number of speakers prominent in these activities taking part.

The highlight of the day's proceedings will be the Annual Luncheon at which the guest speaker will be Dr. Bryce Kendrick, a well-known surgeon, now living in Toronto, who will give an illustrated talk on "Russia — Survey of 40 Years 1917-1957."

Everyone interested in plowing matches is invited to attend all sessions of the Convention.

T.B. Control
Long Way Off

No country in the world has brought tuberculosis under control. Even those with the best public health programmes have only reached a point where control is in sight — at some unspecified date.

This is the opinion of Dr. Johannes Halm, Director of Tuberculosis Services for the World Health Organization. Dr. G. J. Wherrett, Executive Secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, agrees. Canada is among the countries where control is within reach — but he cannot forecast when it will be achieved.

"There is no doubt we are making headway against tuberculosis," Dr. Wherrett states, "but we might get along faster if we faced TB as it is in the 20th century instead of flaunting our triumph over it as it was 300 years ago, when John Bunyan sat in Bedford jail and wrote his famous description of it as 'the captain of these men of death'."

"Naturally we are complacent about dislodging tuberculosis from its grisly eminence in other centuries," Dr. Wherrett stated recently, "but we pay quite a price for not facing the 20th century situation squarely. More than 1,000 Canadians die yearly, and last year there were approximately 7,000 new cases and this was a new low. TB costs Canadian taxpayers 40 million dollars annually and it costs patients and their families an even larger sum in lost wages. What it costs in anxiety and fear cannot be calculated. And all this is the price of a preventable disease. King Edward VII, a pioneer in the crusade against TB, once asked 'If preventable, why not prevented?' It is time we put the question to ourselves again."

At what point might public health officials consider that tuberculosis is under control?

Dr. Holm at the Commonwealth Conference on Tuberculosis last June suggested a gauge which workers on this continent seem ready to endorse. It is that authorities may consider tuberculosis is under control when only one per cent or less of boys and girls of school leaving age react to the tuberculin test.

Miss Gena Spry gave the treasurer's report, and a business discussion followed. Hymn 499 was sung, following which Mrs. B. Reid presided for a programme consisting of readings by Mrs. Duncan Montgomery and Mrs. E. Foster and contests by Mrs. E. Foster. Lunch was served by Mrs. Don Rodgers and her assistants, Mrs. C. Bateman, Mrs. J. Bice, Mrs. B. Reid and Mrs. E. Foster. Mrs. Geo. Sarles voiced the thanks of those present to Mrs. Rodgers for the use of her home.

St. John's Evening Guild

On the evening of February 2nd St. John's Evening Guild met at the home of Mrs. William Webber for their monthly meeting.

The President, Mrs. Hay-Ellis, welcomed the members and visitors and opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer. The minutes were read and approved, followed by the Treasurer's report and roll call.

Mrs. Webber graciously introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Hartley, from the Children's Aid Society. In a very interesting manner she described the work, concerning the Receiving Home, Boarding Homes and the work of Adoption. Mrs. Hay-Ellis thanked Mrs. Hartley for her splendid talk.

Several members brought in articles for the tea.

The meeting closed with prayer, followed by a delicious lunch. Mrs. Jack Green moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Webber and her co-hostess Mrs. Hay-Ellis and Mrs. Hoskings for a most enjoyable evening.

A Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Now that we have a new garbage collector, a new garbage truck and etc., why not handle those garbage cans more carefully. In the past they have been so badly handled by the collectors they are a sight. Let's paint them up and then handle them carefully.

Perhaps it's not right to find fault with them, but of late you can't keep a container looking nice. If they would not throw them so hard and far, perhaps it wouldn't be impossible to keep lids and covers on them.

St. Paul's W.A. Enjoy Centennial Pictures

On Tuesday evening, February 3rd, some eighty ladies gathered in the church parlours for the monthly meeting of St. Paul's Woman's Association. The President opened the meeting with the W.A. motto, followed by the theme hymn and prayer.

Mrs. R. Hutton was in charge of the worship service. It was centred around that wonderful commandment "Love one another." The Scripture, taken from 1 Corinthians 12: verse 31 and chapter 13, was read by Mrs. R. Hulin. Hymn "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee" was sung, followed by a commentary on the Scripture by Mrs. R. Hutton. The hymn, "Go Labour On and Be Spent," was sung. Mrs. H. Wood closed the devotional with prayer.

Pictures of the Stirling Centennial were shown by Mrs. D. Duffin, courtesy of Mrs. G. Bradshaw, Mrs. Grant Stapley and Mrs. D. Duffin. These were thoroughly enjoyed and brought back vivid memories of those four eventful days in the history of Stirling to all present.

The business followed. The Treasurer's report showed a good bank balance. It was decided to serve a turkey plate for the St. Patricks' supper this year. Reports were heard from the Goodwill Secretary, the Parsonage Committee and the Visiting Committee. Mrs. Packman reminded all the W.A. ladies that they have been asked to pray each morning between the hour of 8.30 and 9.30 a.m. The Dominion Council has requested this in connection with the new commission that has been set up to look into women's work. The offering was taken and dedicated.

The serving of a bountiful and tasty lunch by Mrs. R. Hutton and her group brought this delightful evening to a close. Mrs. E. Warren thanked the committee for their effort.

Drivers Get New Handbook

The Ontario Department of Transport has issued a 72-page Driver's Handbook replacing the older Driver's Manual for the province's 2,200,000 motorists.

The new handbook, available at any department office, explains rules of the road, parking, what to do in case of an accident, vehicle equipment and maintenance, how to get and keep a licence to drive, traffic signs and the demerit point system.

"The Driver's Handbook is intended to give all drivers the opportunity of re-examining their own driving and making improvements where needed for own and others' safety," said Transport Minister Yaremko.

Just because he had no family tree many a man has succeeded because he branched out for himself.

Secondary Teachers Annual Conference

The staff of Stirling High School joined the high school teachers of a large area for the annual Educational Conference of District 23 of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, held this year at Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School on Friday, February 6th. The highlight of the day was an address by Dr. A. Vibert Douglas, Dean of Women and Professor of Astronomy at Queen's University.

Having attended last summer the meeting of the International Astronomical Union in Moscow, Dr. Douglas gave her impressions of the U.S.S.R., largely impressions of contrast. The Russians were wonderful hosts, eager to share their experience and demonstrate equipment and techniques, but completely averse to answering questions on any non-scientific level. The principal cities were magnificent in their architecture and planning in the main parts but within a few blocks could be found squalid sections of dreadfully overcrowded tenements with large families confined to two rooms and sharing cooking and bathing facilities with three other families.

The contrast between rich and poor was apparent as was the contrast of opportunity which produced a new aristocracy, not of family, but of party usefulness. Dr. Douglas remarked that the airplanes in which she travelled were extremely well piloted but rather shabbily equipped for passenger comfort. Even in the Russian Orthodox monastery near Moscow Dr. Douglas was rather startled by the brutality of the young priest who, acting as their guide, shouldered devout pilgrims aside to conduct his party of foreign visitors to the sacred sites within the monastery.

Dr. Douglas spoke at the afternoon session of the conference. The morning had been devoted to the subject matter discussions in which the teachers joined groups according to the subjects which they taught in their classes. In these smaller groups they were addressed by a number of outstanding speakers in the various fields. Such men as Mr. John Bassett, of St. Catharines, in the English section, Professor N. Miller, of Queen's University, in the Mathematics section, and Professor R. Earl, of Queen's in the science section, set the keynote for broad discussions of the problems of effective teaching of the various subjects.

One of the local teachers, Mr. E. C. Hay-Elis, of Stirling High School, was chairman of the English section, leading the discussions of problems in the teaching of Composition in Grades 9 and 10.

Convener of the Conference was Miss Elizabeth Stuart, of Quinte Secondary School, Belleville, and chairman of the Professional Development Committee, O.S.S.T.F.

A Letter To The Editor

Mr. H. R. Tompkins,
Publisher, News-Argus,
Stirling, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Tompkins:

On behalf of The Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and its many patients, I should like to offer my sincere thanks for the valuable assistance given us during our recent Christmas Appeal.

As you know, we depend to a large extent on the sponsorship of our appeal by Ontario newspapers and broadcasting stations. This year, the response from the public was more than gratifying, and we estimate an increase in donors over 1957 of approximately 5.51 per cent. The amount of money received in 1958 was $275,561.50.

Thank you again for the important and continuing help you have given us through the years; without it, much of our work would have been impossible.

Yours sincerely,

J. Grant Glasco,

Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It may be of interest to you to know that during the month of December Canadian Post Offices handled more than 500 million items of mail matter. Regular post office staffs were augmented by more than 40,000 temporary helpers but without the widespread co-operation of the public we would hardly have been able to cope with the avalanche of mail prior to Christmas.

I find that reports received from Postmasters throughout the country almost invariably commented on the fact that their local newspapers rendered a notable public service in stressing, through photographs and special articles, the need for co-operation in mailing early.

I am therefore writing specially on behalf of the Postal Service of Canada, to express to newspapers my appreciation of their efforts in the public interest in making our citizens aware of the advantages in mailing early.

Yours sincerely

G. A. Boyle,

Deputy Postmaster General

Americans Hear About Canada

Canada and its people, its way of life and attractions are being described to a potential audience of 70 million Americans this week.

Through the medium of recorded talks prepared and distributed by the Canadian National Railways, the familiar voice of Canadian-born Peter Roberts is giving a word picture of Canada over a network of 356 radio stations.

Entitled "This Is Canada," the series will continue for 26 weeks describing cities and towns and every province.

Speaker Urges Fair Boards To Operate 12 Months of Year

An appeal for agricultural societies to become operative 12 months of the year instead of trying to make all their money on the one day of the fair was made to delegates at the Central Ontario Fairs Association meeting held in the Kiwanis Centre Belleville, on Friday.

Speaker for the occasion was Alex McTaggart, fieldman for the Ontario Fair Association, who noted that many provincial fairs were now past their centennial and still haven't changed very much.

"It's time to get down to business and decide just where we are going," he said, noting that fairs were primarily agricultural shows. "More emphasis should be placed on field crop competitions and on special agricultural exhibits," he said.

In contrast to many Ontario fairs where the tendency was to turn them into carnivals, Mr. McTaggart referred to English fairs where it was an honour for horse or cattle breeders to show and win prizes.

However the smaller fair societies were still under the obligation to raise money for prize lists and to do this ways must be found to get money other than on fair days.

Should Not Pay

He did not discount the value of entertainment at a fair but could not see a fair board "paying" a midway operator to work a fair.

He suggested that fair societies operate dances or other activities to raise money and said that agricultural implement dealers and other people selling to agricultural groups had an obligation to fair boards. In closing he urged that prize lists be kept up to date as fair classes were changing every year and referring again to midways asked that fair boards when contracting with midways specify that there be no "gyp" joints at the fair.

The speaker, introduced by Sidney Fitzgerald, Shannonville, President of the Ontario Fairs Association, spoke generally on fairs, noting that 260 fairs had operated in Ontario last year of which over 100 had passed their centennial. Twenty wet weather grants had been paid last year.

He suggested that capital grants to fairs might be increased as requested and paid tribute to the work of women in fair activities, and also to 4-H clubs which were said to be doing a "wonderful job."

The men's and women's division of the association held separate meetings during the morning and early afternoon, then meeting jointly for the general meeting.

The women's meeting was the largest in the history of the association with 52 delegates attending. Miss Kay Homan, President of the Ontario Junior Farmers' showed coloured slides taken during her trip last summer to England.

Again Elected

Mrs. J. Fred Wilson, R.R. 3, Belleville, was re-elected as the women's division president with Mrs. Sidney Fitzgerald, Shannonville, and Mrs. A. Wilkes, Denbigh, as vice-presidents. Secretary-treasurer is Mrs. W. A. Hume, Campbellford, succeeding Mrs. Harry Rollins, Belleville.

Re-elected as district representative for the men's division was W. E. Henderson, Picton, with Gordon McCubbin, Warkworth, as assistant. Mr. Varcoe, Roseneath, was again named secretary-treasurer.

A committee of Kenneth Vivian, of Shannonville; Gordon McCubbin, of Warkworth; Carl Heath, of Marmora; Emerson Hodgins, Tweed, and Clarence Davy, of Odessa, was named to contact midway operators in an effort to have a midway attend all fairs.

At the same time delegates agreed to "get tough" with midway operators who failed to show up at a fair after contracting to play.

Sidney Fitzgerald, Ontario Fairs President, said fairs should charge midway operators to enter the ground, or throw the gates wide open for any midway, which cared to come in.

Fair Dates

Fair dates for the district are as follows:

Belleville — August 10, 11, 12, 13
Brighton — August 4 and 5
Odessa — September 4 5
Marmora — September 7

Brownie Notes

We would like to express our appreciation for the tremendous response for used Christmas cards. We have packed 260 pounds, well over 16,000 cards. The mailing cost $20.27. To answer some of our Brownies, we do not make any money for the Brownies from these cards, it is one way of everyone helping us to do a good deed by sending these cards to a disabled ex-servicemen's hospital in England who are unable to do normal work and they are starting to build up a small industry in remarking used greeting cards and selling them. This way some of these men are beginning to make enough to help support themselves and their families again.

As we have sent all our funds will permit us to do, the Rangers under Mrs. Don Williams are accepting the remainder of the cards that come in and sending them along. All types of greeting cards are accepted.

We would also like to thank the two persons who donated $1.00 each to help with the postage.

On Monday, February 9th, four Brownies were enrolled, Lynne Tanner, Linda Hosking, Eleanor Shortt and Shirley Anne McDonnell. This makes a total of thirty-three enrolled Brownies.

Those Brownies who are trying for your Golden Hand — the plant you are growing — as soon as it is in bloom and your diary complete, please phone Mrs. Hutton and make arrangements to show her and also be sure and take your test card along so it can be signed. You must take care of a plant yourself.

Don't forget the semaphore, practice at home whenever you have a few moments. A little every day is the easiest way.

No doubt your special Brownie has mentioned the "Building Fund." This building being planned will be the future Canadian Guide Headquarters in Toronto. To date the offices have been rented which means continued moving and the lease for the present building will be up in 1960 the the Canadian Guide Council decided to try and build. If this can be accomplished the new building will be tax free which over the years will be an added saving. The new building will cost $275,000. If every Brownie, Guide, Ranger, Guider and Association member were to give $1.50 each, it would nearly pay for it, as there are 170,000 members across Canada. A $1.50 buys 15 square inches and entitles the donor to have her name written in a book which will be kept in the lobby of the new building.

How many Brownies would be willing to give up at least two chocolate bars or two ice cream cones a month to help make up your $1.50. Talk it over with your mother and see how you can save or earn this. Most of you already have paid for one square inch. Perhaps there is some way we could raise this amount each with the Brownie Pack as a whole. Let us have your ideas next Monday. We still have considerable time before our funds are to be sent in to Toronto for the new Canadian Guide Headquarters Building in Toronto. 1960 will be the anniversary of fifty years of Guiding in Canada.

The Association Committee wish to thank those who responded so well to the bake sale that was held to give the Rangers a helping hand. Proceeds were a little over thirty dollars.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

The decisions agreed by the Advisory Committee for the new building were as follows:

A new floor to be laid on the upper floor and a dividing folding wall to provide a W.A. room and a department for the Scriptures. The Bible Class to meet in the W.A. room each Sunday. In order to bring water and necessary small conveniences to the new building, a sink is to be installed with water and small unit for heating purposes. This will complete the present programme before we begin to enquire into a further major operation.

All contributors and friends are now asked to help towards this $1500 project, part of which is in hand. The sum required immediately is upward to $1000.

The Scouts and Guides will be present at the service on Sunday, February 16th at 8.00 p.m.

The St. Paul's Board of Session will meet at the parsonage on Monday, February 16th at 8.00 p.m.

Horticultural Society Hints

Ferns thrive in medium light but should not be exposed to strong sunlight, an east, west or north window is a good location but away from draughts. A suitable soil mixture is 3 parts loam, 1 part sand, 1 part peat moss, 1 part well-rotted manure. Watering depends on temperature and humidity, but they should not stand in water.

The tips of the front are easily damaged by brushing against them. They are subject to scale and mealy bug. Apply a weak application of complete liquid fertilizer every few weeks once the plants are established in their pots.

Repot the plants in February. Remove the plant from the pot and cut off (not pull off) the fronds close to the crown. Loosen the roots and separate the plants. Then repot all in one pot or separate as desired. The crown should be almost covered with soil.

Keep potted bulbs moist at all times until you bring them up for forcing and check other potted plants (chrysanthemums and geraniums) to make sure they have enough moisture to remain fresh. However, too much moisture now at the end of this dormant period will cause soft premature growth. If this has started, bring them up to a cool room where they'll get more light. You may have to pinch back unruly growth and repot the plants before you bring them upstairs.

House plants need humidity. Give your house plants a humid vacation by putting them in the bathroom or kitchen for a few days at a time. You will soon notice healthier leaves with this treatment.

Dr. R. B. Murray Suggests Ways To Combat Rabies

Animal rabies has been diagnosed in Hastings and neighbouring Counties. The following precautionary measures should be observed as a means of combating this disease, Dr. R. B. Murray, local veterinary, said this week.

1. Pet dogs and cats should be immunized.
2. A veterinarian should be consulted when livestock or pets show signs of nervous disorder, and care should be used in the handling of these.
3. Use care when pelting fur animals or removing fox ears and tails for bounty — wear gloves.
4. Caution children against contact with wildlife, dead or alive.

Hundreds of people in Ontario have had to take the long and sometimes painful prophylactic treatment for rabies because these precautions were not observed.

If, however, a person is exposed to a suspected or proven case of animal rabies, it is important to ascertain as soon as possible whether or not treatment is necessary. So that this may be done, the following advice is issued:

1. Wash all bites and scratches without delay and treat with an antiseptic. Consult a physician as soon as possible.
2. When livestock or pets die under suspicious circumstances notify, without delay, a practising veterinarian or the health of animals division of the dominion department of agriculture. Instances of contact between domestic animals and apparently fearless wildlife should also be reported.
3. All persons bitten by dogs should notify the provincial police. It is important that the dog be identified and quarantined.

All For A Dime Off The Price

A fellow I know has good reason to hate the year that's just ended, the year '68.

The thought of it brings only gloom to recall he's now out of work with his back to the wall.

The goods that he made he'd been making for years by the sweat of his brow and his toil and his tears;

Yet now when he offers these products for sale

He finds that the lures of "cheap bargains" prevail

And his fellow Canadians — that's us, you and me —

Are buying from countries far over the sea

Where the wages are less than a third of our own

And the standard of living's pared down to the bone.

This fellow I know is my customer too,

Or rather he was, 'til his business fell through.

Which caused me to ask — Are we men or just mice

To stab our own folk for a dime off the price.

The fate of my friend could be yours, could me mine,

So let's "Buy Canadian" throughout '69.

Entered Into Rest

MRS. GEORGE RUTHERFORD

Funeral services were conducted from Bennett's funeral home, Campbellford, on Thursday for Sarah Adeline Rutherford, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. T. Scott, 71 Front Street N., Campbellford, on Tuesday. She was 94.

Born at Petherick's Corners in Seymour Township, she was the daughter of the late John Spencer and Sarah Jane Dunk. She was the widow of George Rutherford and had lived in Campbellford about 30 years, residing at Rylstone prior to this.

Surviving are a daughter and two sons, Mrs. H. T. (Florence) Scott, and a son, Fred M. Rutherford, both of Campbellford, and Garnett Rutherford, of Havelock. Fred Rutherford is the present mayor of Campbellford.

Mrs. Rutherford attended the Presbyterian Church when her health permitted.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Gordon Whitehorse, the United Church circuit minister. Pallbearers were Messrs. Fred Rutherford, Robert and Frank Spencer, Robert Lisle and Fred Linn and Grenville Rutherford.

Interment was in Mount Pleasant cemetery vault with final burial in Rylstone cemetery.

So True

The trouble with too many college students is that they think being broke is something to write home about.

What Others Say

A GOOD BREAKFAST

(Kitchener-Waterloo Journal)

To skip breakfast and grab coffee at mid-morning does not replenish the blood sugar which determines how much energy the body can produce.

No one is opposed to the coffee break as such — it may be good for the morale and relaxation. But tests on several hundred persons revealed the lowest rating for the "coffee swallowed on the run" group.

Production men seeking to increase on-the-job productivity would do well to campaign for hearty eating before a man gets on the job. Employees could profit in health and efficiency by fortifying themselves for the day's work with a substantial breakfast.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

"That book tells me the meaning of life!" declared a new Canadian immigrant as he placed $5,000.00 in cash into the hands of a British and Foreign Bible Society representative.

A Roumanian immigrant to Canada a few years back and settled as a farm labourer in the Niagara Peninsula. A Bible Society Colporteur left with him a copy of the New Testament in his native tongue. This immigrant found in the Scriptures the answer to his heart's deepest need, and by consistent reading he grew in grace and knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ.

When asked by a Bible Society representative, "What does this book mean to you?" this Roumanian declared, ed, "that book tells me the meaning of life!" and placed $5,000.00 in savings bonds in the hands of a Bible Society representative, adding "tell the Bible Society to print more Gospels for my fellow new Canadians. In 1958 the Bible Society distributed 362,000 copies of Scriptures in 70 languages in Canada.

The World Day of Prayer Service for Rawdon Circuit will be held at the Wellman's United Church on Friday afternoon, February 13th at 2:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. John Carlisle, President of Wellman's W.M.S. The service is adapted from one prepared by women of Egypt and is entitled, "He said, Lord I believe, and he worshipped Him." These same prayers will be said in 144 countries. The offering will be divided between the Home and the Foreign Divisions of the National Council of Churches. I have a little keepsake so nicely tucked away.

But I always take it out on just this special day;

The nicest part about it, is one special little line,

That simply asks the question, "will you be my Valentine?"

Sunbeam

Mission Band

The Sunbeam Mission Band convened at the Church Hall with twenty-six in attendance. The President opened with the theme song and the Mission Band Purpose. All sang a children's hymn and Janet Fletcher read the Bible Lesson, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Secretary gave her report and two fees were paid. The offering was gathered by Judy McAdam and Joyce Jeffs. This was dedicated by Donna Knight.

The leader, Mrs. Harry McAdam, synopsized the study story from "Ten Pairs of Shoes," entitled "A Japanese Doll," which was the story of Kiyoko, a new Canadian who lives in Toronto.

Selections were read by Calvin Sharp, Shirley Potts, Kenneth Smith and Barbara Williams. A vocal duet was given by Diane and Fred McAdam. The March programme committee will be Jim Summers and Joyce Cooney.

Some of the group are preparing a poster on "The Canadian Indian," which will be displayed by the Presbyterian Literature Secretary at Picton next week.

59th Anniversary of I.O.D.E.

Friday, February 13th, 1959, marks the 59th anniversary of the founding of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire (I.O.D.E.). The Order was organized by Mrs. Clark Murray, of Montreal in 1900. The first chapter was formed in Fredericton, New Brunswick, fifty-nine years ago.

The I.O.D.E. is a voluntary, patriotic, non-sectarian organization. It was a membership from the Yukon to Newfoundland of approximately 32,000 women in 983 chapters, and is affiliated with chapters in Bermuda and the Bahamas, with the Victoria League in England and the Daughters of the British Empire in the United States.

In peace and war the I.O.D.E. gives aid to men and women of the Services, to dependents of ex-service personnel, and promotes higher citizenship among all citizens, British and foreign born.

Since the war the I.O.D.E. has raised and spent over $900,000 a year on its work. Last year, the Order spent $907,000 (audited figures), of which 15% ($770,950) was spent in Canada; 15% ($136,050) was spent on relief goods and educational work outside of the country.

Educational Work

In Canada The chapters across Canada spend over a quarter of a million dollars a year on grants, scholarships and bursaries for Canadian students and other educational projects.

Each year from its two War Memorial Funds the I.O.D.E. offers thirteen overseas post-graduate scholarships, worth $2,000 each, to Canadian students for study in British universities. To date, 1218 Canadian students

Services At Home

And Abroad Last year, the I.O.D.E. spent half a million dollars ($503,743) on services at home and abroad; 80% of this amount was spent in Canada on local projects such as clinics, libraries, veterans' hospitals, sanatoria, senior citizens, immigrants, summer camps, nurseries, historic sites, Canadian disaster funds and emergency welfare; 20% was spent on overseas relief such as warm clothing, bedding, powdered milk, first aid, x-ray equipment and handicraft materials for refugee camps, infants' homes, orphanages and children's T.B. hospitals in British Somaliland, Kenya, Sudan, West Germany, Italy, Austria, Greece and Korea.

The Rangers have agreed to assist the Brownies in the remainder of the Christmas cards to be mailed overseas to disabled veterans who are hospitalized, who use these cards to supplement their income. The programme was on music, with the Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikovsky being played and comments about the composer given by Barbara Woodbeck. Exercises to music, under the direction of Barbara Woodbeck, were enjoyed.

Plans for the next meeting include extending an invitation to an artist to study the finer points of painting.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Huie)

NO HELP, PLEASE!

I get a kick out of the story my friend Hank Larson tells. He was in the city visiting relations. Walking down a main avenue, he gawked at tall buildings and stubbed his toe on a curb. He was not badly hurt. "But heck," says he, "a social worker was walking by and saw me. Guess she'd just taken a course in first aid. She pounced on me and went to work. A few others joined in, and first thing I knew I was trussed up like a Thanksgiving turkey and whisked away in an ambulance. Missed my bus home; got accused by friends of being drunk and disorderly, and had to pay $16.00 for ambulance and intern service . . . all for a stubbed toe! I'm not going to the city no more; they're too darned helpful.

Hank probably exaggerated that story, but it's a fact that we're often in real deep trouble when a bunch of well-meaning folk set out to help us.

Lately, there's been a terrific amount of talk about "helping small business." The government wants to help small business. Farm organizations worry about the plight of small business. Speech makers like to talk about helping small business. About the only people not shouting for such help are — the owners of small businesses. Fact is, they're scared stiff they're going to be pounced on and "helped" about the same way Hank

Larson got "helped."

One small business man wrote to a trade magazine about the same thing. "Far from being a delicate organism," he wrote, "that requires planners to watch out for its welfare, small business is a hardy social institution capable of such quick adaption to new situations that it would be difficult to stamp it out. But planners insist that small business can't compete with big business. If a big business could react to situations as quickly as the average small business, there might be some logic in such a contention. But so far, big business has not developed this capability. In our small company, we frequently accept, manufacture and ship an item in less time than it would take some large companies to get the paperwork well under way . . . more than one small business has become a big business by this route. So, as one small business man, I say, 'Thank you, Uncle, for your offers of special aid and assistance — but we and the public will be better off without it. We can meet changing conditions with surprising agility and some acumen. We aren't too certain we could survive with too much help.'

Traffic Toll

In 1958, 1140 people died and 30,660 were injured as a result of traffic accidents in Ontario. These are not dry statistics, comments the Ontario Safety League; they are dripping with the blood of our friends and neighbors.

Half Hour Walk Helps Prevent Winter Colds

Somebody has figured out that the average person loses five days of work a year because of colds in the head.

But no one has calculated the fun lost because of colds. Or totalled up the number of broken dates, broken engagements and broken homes caused by the irritability, insecurity and downright cussedness which accompanies a stuffed-up nose and a scratchy throat.

And in spite of all the research on the subject, doctors agree that good advice for avoiding colds is to "walk for at least a half an hour a day in the fresh air."

Of course, most people tell their doctors they simply haven't got time. But it's surprising how many of the busiest people in the country — movie and television stars for instance — do manage, somehow, to find that time. They've discovered it pays off in the long run. Not only by clearing out the lungs, but also by untying those knots in your nerves.

Do It Right

You'll find walking is a pleasure instead of a chore if you do as the movie stars do and start off in a pair of good walking shoes. They must have low heels — because you can't get into a long swinging stride with high heels. And they should be of leather, with supple uppers and flexible soles that encourage the muscles of your feet to bend and relax and give you a proper walking rhythm.

Your feet keep good and warm in shoes like these because leather has millions of tiny pores which let the air in. The air is warmed by your moving feet and, in turn, keeps your feet warm. At the same time perspiration is evaporated. And if your feet are warm that means your circulation is stirred up and you're warm all over.

Other Rules

Some other rules for good walking are:

Don't walk in order to get someplace — not every day anyway. Walk to enjoy the countryside or the park and the people you see.

Don't take a watch along.

Don't bundle up too much — you want to be able to swing your arms or throw a snowball without too much effort.

It's nice to have a companion, a small child for instance, but not absolutely necessary. Walking alone is fun too.

Don't make a fetish out of walking. Skip a day if you feel like it. You'll enjoy it all the more the next day.

31 Head of Cattle 122 Pigs Burned In Fire Near Tweed

A fire of unknown origin destroyed a large barn and silo on the farm of Donald Martin, R.R. 2, Tweed, four miles south of the village, and one mile west, early Sunday morning.

Stabled in the barn were 31 head of fine cattle and in the adjacent pigery one hundred and twenty-two hogs, and all were lost in the blaze. The barn contained the season's grain crop as well as hay.

Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary

The February meeting of the Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary was held in St. Paul's Anglican Church Parish Hall, Kingston, on Monday, February 2nd. Severe weather conditions hardly affected the attendance, for members were present from all the local branches as well as from Cataraqui and Gananoque. Miss Winifred Burns presided.

After the opening hymn and National Anthem had been sung Miss Burns led the devotional period with a missionary litany, followed by the member's prayer and a prayer for the Mission to Kingston now being conducted in the city.

Reports of the secretaries were given and correspondence read. A letter of special interest to this Diocese has been received from the Rev. Reginald and Mrs. Savary in Japan, giving a somewhat detailed account of their work. Mrs. T. H. Parker, Treasurer, reported that several branches had already sent in fees for 1959. She had letters from Miss Hassell, of the Western Van, the Anglican Women's Training College, Miss Frances Howard, of Sierra Leone, and the Luthiana Medical College — all acknowledging gifts of money sent for furthering their work. A life membership has been conferred on Mrs. Dayton Murphy, of St. Andrew's Church, Wellington.

A fine record of 4720 calendars sold was announced by Mrs. G. H. Estford. She recommended "The Cross, The Eucharist and You," written by the Right Rev. Michael Coleman, of Qu'Appelle, for Lenten reading.

Plans are already under way for the Diocesan Annual to be held in April in the new hall of Trinity Church, at Brockville. Mrs. Noonan, Convenor of Nominations, has asked that branches look into their own membership for officer material and fill out the nomination forms carefully and promptly. The Rev. T. H. Good, Rector of St. Paul's, warmly introduced the speaker, and felt it was a privilege to have the Rev. Richard Lucas of the Mission to Kingston address the meeting. Rev. Lucas read from St. Mark's Gospel, chapter five the story of the woman, healed by faith. He made a phrase by phrase study of it, and related each detail to the personal life of his hearers. He drew from the story soul-searching questions which he directed to his audience for silent answering. Miss Burns expressed appreciation and gratitude to Rev. Lucas for his thoughtful study and an opportunity to speak with him was provided in the social hour when the St. Paul's branch were looking after the tea-cups.

DRIVERS' LICENSES TO BE GOOD FOR THREE YEARS

Drivers' licenses will be good for three years beginning in 1960, the Ontario Transport Department has announced.

The disclosure was held by newly-appointed Transport Minister John Yaremko, who announced that the deadline for 1959 plates will be March 18th and there will be no extensions.

Deputy Transport Minister Donald Collins said that the following year, Ontario will set up an electronic code system for drivers' licenses in which every driver will have the same number on his drivers' license for his entire lifetime.

On his birthday every three years, a new drivers' license will be mailed to him.

Mr. Collins said that this system will eliminate the long line-ups for drivers' licenses.

The licensing branch expects that more than 4,000,000 plates and licenses will be issued for 1959.

Mr. Collins said it costs the department 35 cents to issue a plate and 10 cents to issue a license.

Second Pipeline Is Now A Possibility

Although the Trans-Canada pipeline from Alberta to Montreal was only completed in recent months, the company is already starting to give serious consideration to building a second line to eastern Canada from Winnipeg. The demand for natural gas in Canada has so far exceeded anyone's wildest dreams that in seven to ten years the 30-inch line which now stretches east from Winnipeg may prove too small to provide the volume required in Ontario and Quebec. A firm decision on building a second line will await decision on the export of Canadian gas to the U.S.

DAIRY PRODUCTION IN ONTARIO

The total production of creamery butter in Ontario during the calendar year 1958 is estimated at 90,238,700 pounds as compared with 77,411,500 pounds during 1957, an increase of 16.6%. Cheddar cheese production, on the other hand, for this comparison declined from 63,276,700 pounds to 60,681,700 pounds or minus 4.1%. It is estimated that 2,790,287,300 pounds of whole milk were used for the combined production of creamery butter and cheddar cheese in Ontario during 1958 as against 2,518,654,700 pounds in 1957, representing an increase of 10.3%.

Comparing December 1958 with December 1957, the production of creamery butter amounted to 5,071,800 pounds as against 4,408,900 pounds, a gain of 15.0%, and cheddar cheese production 1,945,200 pounds as against 2,197,700 pounds, a reduction of 11.5%.

Cold storage holdings of creamery butter throughout Canada amounted to 93,731,000 pounds at January 1st, 1951, as compared with 69,976,000 pounds on the same date a year ago. Cheddar cheese stocks showed a decrease, however, amounting to 46,353,000 pounds at January 1st, 1959, as compared with 52,021,000 pounds at January 1st, 1958.

The wholesale price of creamery butter at Toronto during December 1958 averaged 63.8 cents per pound and was somewhat higher than the average price of 63.0 cents which prevailed during December 1957. For this comparison, the Exchange quotations for cheddar cheese average 35.0 cents per pounds as against 32.7 cents.

Concentrated milk plants turned out 260,321,500 pounds of condensed, evaporated and powdered milk products during the twelve months of 1958, or 12.4% more than the 231,617,000 pounds of these products manufactured in Ontario during 1957. The output in December was up 5%, amounting to 14,963,300 pounds as against 14,191,300 pounds in December 1957. Output of powdered skim milk, spray process, showed a gain of 74.2% during 1958 as compared with 1957, while powdered skim milk, roller process, was up 19.0% and miscellaneous whole milk products 16.5%. Condensed whole milk, however, showed a decrease of 4.4%, evaporated milk 3.9% and powdered whole milk 0.8%.

Sales of fluid cream by commercial dairies in Ontario for November 1958 were reported at 1,580,100 quarts as compared with 1,590,800 quarts during November 1957. For this comparison, chocolate dairy drink sales in Ontario declined to 1,161,600 quarts from 1,202,300 quarts, buttermilk to 517,600 quarts from 549,800 and skim milk to 2,923,700 quarts from 3,035,700.

CANADIANS EATING COSTLIER MEALS

Canadians have been enjoying a relatively high standard of living. The sharp change in income levels and food consumption patterns during the last twenty years is revealed by comparison of 1935-39 averages with 1955-57 averages.

Disposable income per person increased almost four times from $339 to $1,236, while the consumer price index doubled.

The average Canadian still spends about 25 per cent of his disposable income on food as he did in pre-war years, but, with his increased earnings, his tastes have turned towards more variety and higher quality in the menu.

There has been a definite shift in food consumption patterns toward more expensive classes of food and food already prepared.

Cereal products, potatoes and sugar are considered low-cost sources of food energy. Popularity of the first two commodities has sagged greatly. In 1935-39, annual consumption of cereal products was about 206 pounds per person. In 1955-57, it was 160. Similarly, potato consumption slipped from 192 to 154 pounds.

Because Canadians today are eating less bread and potatoes, consumption of butter and margarine in the 1955-57 period was 28 pounds per person J 2.8 pounds less than consumption of butter alone in 1935-39.

Milk, Eggs Stable

Milk, eggs and meat are the principal animal protein foods and are considered important from the nutritional viewpoint. While consumption of milk and eggs was fairly stable, there were sharp increases in consumption of red meat and poultry meat.

From an average of 118 pounds per person in 1935-39, red meat rose to 141 pounds in 1955-57. Poultry consumption soared from 18 to 31 pounds.

Fruits and vegetables are important in a diet as a source of vitamins, minerals and bulk. They are relatively high-cost sources of both food energy and protein. Consumption of vegetables, other than potatoes and tomatoes, increased from 78 to 101 pounds.

But the meteor-like rise in consumption of fruits and tomatoes from 139 to 239 pounds per person offers even more vivid evidence of today's more expensive living.

ANEMIA IN NURSING PIGS

Anemia in nursing pigs is usually caused by a deficiency of one or more nutritional elements; iron and copper being the most important, reports the Ontario Veterinary College. The young pig has only a very small store of these elements at birth. The sow is unable to supply enough in her milk, consequently within a few days the young pigs begin to show signs of anemia. Usually anemia is most noticeable in white pigs. They become chalky in appearance, lose the natural pink colour of the ears and quite often become excessively fat and jowly looking. Occasionally one or more of the thriestest fattest pigs is found dead. When a pig becomes anemic it is more susceptible to infectious disease and commonly white scours or pneumonia develop.

Prevention of anemia depends on supplying the necessary nutrients to each pig in adequate amounts. Iron is most necessary. There are two chief means of administration, either by mouth or injection. Reduced iron, ferrous (iron) sulphate or various commercial preparations are given by mouth beginning not later than three days of age and twice a week until the pigs are well established on the creep starter ration. Recently injectable iron preparations have become popular because of the convenience of administration, the pigs usually are treated at about 48 hours of age and again at three to four weeks of age.

MEASURES URGED TO BOOST SPUD

Registered warehouses have been advocated by a leading government official as a means of bolstering a sagging potato industry in Canada.

E. G. Paige, Director of Fruit and Vegetable Division of Canada Department of Agriculture, reminded the Potato Section of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association that potato consumption has slipped by about 40 per cent over the past 30 years.

He said an urgent examination of production and merchandising methods is warranted to see what can be done to halt this disastrous downward trend.

Registered Warehouses

Mr. Paige noted that with registered warehouses, theonus would be on the grader or packer to comply with grade standards and other regulations. It would mean a more consistently well-graded pack being put on the market.

Too, warehouses would provide records of sales and average returns, aiding federal support programmes or deficiency payment systems. And, he added, production of a better eating potato would be encouraged.

"Position of the potato in the national economy is such that the industry must make every effort to see that services available to it through universities and governments are used to best advantage," said Mr. Paige.

"Ways and means of improving its position, however, must emanate largely from the industry itself."

While conceding that the high standard of living in Canada is partly responsible for the decrease in consumption of potatoes and other low-cost foods, the federal spokesman claimed the degree to which changes in eating habits occur can be influenced by the quality and attractiveness of the products as they are presented to the housewife.

Retail Control Feared

Unless corrective measures are taken, he said, powerful retail organizations will assume control of their requirements through a form of so-called vertical integration and the industry will evolve into one where a relatively few selected and specialized producers will, under direction of these retail outlets, produce the bulk of potatoes for domestic market. The remainder of producers would be limited to supplying the export requirements and what is left of the domestic market.

Besides the swing to potato warehouses, he urged promotions of the nutritional qualities of the potato and a drive toward new and better processed potato products.

FARM BUILDING HAZARDS

Recent statistical reports show that farmers have a higher accident rate than industrial workers. Many of the accidents are unnecessary.

Dangerous stairways and ladders cause many mishaps in farm buildings. Makeshift stairs should be eliminated. Steps should not be more than seven inches high, and should not be less than ten inches deep and three feet wide. As an extra precaution, handrails should be added. Hay leaves and dirt should be kept off stairs. Make sure that the rungs of a ladder being used are tight and strong.

Every year, farmers are seriously injured by falling through open feed chutes. Build trap doors or covered chutes at the edge of the mow, and then hay and straw can be handled safely.

In the workshop, hang tools in racks or cupboards over a well-lighted work bench. Keep the floor clean, and thus reduce the hazard of fire and accidents — and enjoy the bonus of working in greater comfort. Repair work should be pleasant, and needn't result in accidents.

JOHNE'S DISEASE COMPENSATION

New regulations have been approved by the Federal Government providing assistance to farmers whose cattle are found to have Johne's disease.

Compensation will be paid owners of slaughtered cattle on the same basis as is now for tuberculosis and brucellosis.

The regulations, added to the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, allow up to $70 for grade cattle and up to $140 for purebred stock.

Johne's disease is on the increase in some sections of the country, says the Health of Animals Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, and it may become a serious menace to the livestock industry if all available measures of control are not used conscientiously.

Tests Offered

Since 1940, tests have been made of 68 herds comprising 3,395 cattle and they have shown that the disease is present in practically every province of Canada.

Although tests are available to all livestock producers in Canada there will be no nation-wide eradication programme such as there is for tuberculosis and brucellosis. Tests will be made on a voluntary basis as in the past, only now compensation can be paid when cattle have to be destroyed.

Dr. K. F. Wells, Veterinary Director General, urges all owners interested in the test to contact their local Health of Animals Division veterinarians.

Johne's disease, or paratuberculosis of cattle, is a chronic infectious disease characterized by intermittent diarrhoea, progressive weakness, dehydration and emaciation leading almost invariably to death.

NATIONAL WEALTH

The four great sources of Canadian wealth are forests, farms, minerals, and water power. The pulp and paper industry uses the water power to convert the forest crop into dollars of national income chiefly obtained from abroad through exports and chiefly paid out in wages.

GEORGE S. HENRY'S HERD BRINGS PRICE OF $36,630

The Orleole Lodge herd of purebred Holsteins established over 50 years ago by the late Hon. George S. Henry, at Orleole, and carried on in recent years by his son, George W. Henry, was dispersed January 26th at Oakville. Under the hammer of Harry Hays, of Calgary, the 74 head brought $36,630 for a general average of $497.97. The cattle were sold to widely scattered points including Mexico, Florida, New York, Tennessee, Manitoba and Quebec. Twenty-seven were sold for export.

World Day of Prayer at St. Andrew's Church Attracts Good Crowd

Various Denominations Are Represented — Mrs. E. G.
Hosking Brought Message

St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. was hostess to the neighbouring auxiliaries as they assembled on Friday to unite with Christian women around the world for the annual World Day of Prayer. Mrs. L. Munro, Mrs. G. Saries and Mrs. E. Cain greeted the women as they entered the sanctuary and Mrs. Vernon Matthews presided at the piano. Mrs. Blanche Reid presented the theme, "Lord, I believe, and he worshipped Him," and led in the worship section. Representatives were in attendance from Eggleton, River Valley, St. John's Anglican and St. Paul's United, societies, and the leaders took special parts as arranged. The choir was composed of members of the various churches. Mrs. William Wilkins and Mrs. Grant Richardson sang as a duet, "In The Garden of Prayer."

Directing the devotional divisions under the headings of Penitence, Assurance, Consecration and Intercession were Mrs. G. Bush, Mrs. B. Stapley, Mrs. K. Mumby and Mrs. A. Packman. Assisting in the special prayers were Mrs. E. Foster, Mrs. G. B. Noble, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, Mrs. E. Eggleton and Mrs. E. Carr.

Mrs. E. G. Hosking brought the message of the day and emphasized the need for prayer among Christians as well as those whom we might consider to be in greater need. Faith is available to all but is increased as we use it. The Christian life is one of giving and as we strive toward the desired goal, we find that we give more easily and more freely of the attributes with which we have been entrusted.

The offering was dedicated and sent on its mission of doing good in every corner of God's Kingdom on earth.

The meeting was well attended and proved an inspiration for prayerful meditation — a suitable service for the early days of Lent.

Clare E. West Is Chairman of the Stirling Rotary Club Easter Seal Committee

To more than 13,500 children and teenagers in Ontario, afflicted by accident, disease, or from birth by crippling conditions that usually mean despair and dependence on others, March is the month of hope.

According to C. E. West, the Easter Seal Chairman, of the Stirling Rotary Club, the local Rotarians are all ready for the campaign which opens on Thursday next, February 26th through the members of 221 service clubs, as the means by which the people of Ontario join in the vast task of making life better for youngsters who would otherwise find it harder, if not impossible, to become self-reliant independent citizens. This year the service clubs have set a provincial objective of $800,000 from the sale of Easter Seals.

The purchases of Easter Seals mean treatment and training, vacations in specially equipped summer camps and all the other benefits that the thirty-six-year-old Ontario Society for Crippled Children has developed over its history to children. They mean a chance for lads to take a course at the internationally known Variety Village, the school sponsored and supported by the entertainment profession, where trades are taught boys unable to work at manual tasks.

Down through the years Easter Seals have paved a way for a program which now provides 22 specially trained nurses, who serve as liaison with the service clubs across the province, seeking out crippled children and directing them to treatment centres, providing them with home nursing skills, and teaching parents what to do to help their handicapped little one take advantage of medically prescribed plans of rehabilitation.

In five camps, unlike any other camps in the country, hundreds of youngsters will have a chance at summer vacations barred to them otherwise because they cannot play exactly as other children do. In these camps counsellors with knowledge of what to do teach the kids to enjoy life, to learn how to care for themselves and give many of them hope which their conditions, or even their over-protective parents, have not aroused.

Purchases of Easter Seals mean membership for the buyers in a crusade of mercy and service to children, who through no fault of their own, bear enormous burdens of affliction, but who need only a little help to carry those burdens much more lightly.

World Day of Prayer At Wellman's

The World Day of Prayer Service for the Rawdon Circuit was held at Wellman's United Church on Friday, February 13th with a good attendance.

The service was opened by Mrs. Jack Dunham, of Wellman's, with Mrs. Craig Watson, Wellman's, presiding at the piano throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. Byron Seeley, Wellman's, read the first Scripture reading on worship found in John 9: 35-38. The hymn "Shepherd of Eager Youth," was sung. The next scripture on Penitence, Luke 22: 56-62, was read by Mrs. William Heath, of Bethel, with Mrs. Flossie Laycock, of Bethel, acting as leader. The Scripture on Assurance, John 11: 21-27, was read by Mrs. Milford Wrightman, of Mount Pleasant, with Mrs. Herb Smith, of Mount Pleasant, taking the leader part. The hymn, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds," was sung. The portion of the service on Consecration was taken by Mrs. Dunham. "Faith of our Fathers" was sung. This was followed by the Intercession with prayer being offered by Mrs. Will Potts, of Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Harold Elliott, of Bethel; Mrs. Frederick Beckett, of Wellman's; Mrs. Roy Thrasher, of Mount Pleasant; Mrs. John Mulheron, of Bethel.

Mrs. Omar Dracup, of Wellman's, gave a very appropriate address dealing with the foundation and purpose of the World Day of Prayer. The offering was received and dedicated. Mrs. James Pollock, Wellman's, favoured with a very fitting solo, "Hear Thou Our Prayer." The hymn, "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord Is Ended," was sung.

Mrs. Dunham pronounced the benediction bringing to a close a most successful afternoon.

Boy Scout Statistics

(Contributed)

Do you know there are 250,000 Boy Scouts in Canada, and membership in 1949 was 110,030. This shows that the movement in Canada is growing fast; there are 24,000 volunteer leaders who look after these boys and spend hours making up programmes to carry out the scout work.

The first census of Canadian Scouting was taken in 1914. At that time there were 14,477 Scouts and leaders in Canada. The Wolf Cubs section was not started until two years later. With a better organization and facilities to service the Movement it is anticipated that by 1967 the Scout population will have reached 500,000 members.

There are 50 different organizations sponsoring the 10,000 Wolf Cubs, Boy Scouts and Rover Crews in Canada. Major sponsors are the churches which operate 60 percent of all Scout sections in the country. Service Clubs are also keep sponsors with the Lions Clubs leading with 103 groups.

There are 33 Scout groups in institutions for the blind, deaf, crippled and mentally retarded; while a further 90 groups are operated at Navy, Army and Air Force bases, both in Canada and in Europe.

The Boy Scout Association itself operates no Wolf Cub Packs, Boy Scout Troops or Rover Crews. All are operated by sponsoring institutions chartered by the Association and acting partners with the Association in bringing Scouting to a quarter million Canadian boys.

Penetrating well beyond the Arctic Circle, the Boy Scout Movement is the only youth training programme operating in Canada's far north. In its work in the far reaches of the Arctic barren lands, the Association has the active support and co-operation of the Department of Northern Affairs and the Northwest Territories Council.

To service this Movement, the Association employs about 85 men as Scout Executives. These serve in the capacities of Field Commissioners in cities and rural areas, and as Executives at District, Provincial and Canadian Headquarters. The Association is incorporated by Act of Parliament and is under the jurisdiction of the Canada General Council of the Boy Scout Association with headquarters in Ottawa.

However, it is the volunteer force of leaders which makes Scouting possible for more than a quarter of a million boys. Mr. Rhys M. Sale, President of the Council, said of these leaders: "It is their dedication, their devotion, their sacrificial offer of unnumbered hours in selfless service that are the greatest assets of the movement."

On February 22nd we will pay tribute to the memory of Lord Baden-Powell, Founder of the Boy Scout Movement. This is the 102nd anniversary of his birthday. He started this movement with 20 boys who attended the first experimental camp in 1907. One of the members of that camp, Lord Rodney, is now a Canadian citizen, resident at Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta.

Stirling Membership

103 Boys

Stirling now has a membership of 105. Ten years ago there were only 35 boys registered in Stirling. The Cubs have their own Cub Camp, which is held at Deseronto the second week of July. Thirty boys attended this camp last year. The Scouts are planning to hold a camp this year if at all possible. Nine leaders look after this group which is self supporting. The group is sponsored by the Legion and a committee of six men look after the welfare of the group.

Stirling is a member of the Trent Valley Boy Scout Association which includes Marmora, Havelock, Norwood, Warsaw, Hastings, Campbellford and Warkworth. Mr. David Duffin is the District Commissioner and Mr. Irish A.D.C. Mrs. Irish was District Cubmaster for the past five years, but resigned this year.

To keep the group going, they have to pay $105.00 to the Provincial Council. They have enough on hand to pay this, but will be broke when this is paid. So they will be selling membership cards again. Do not wait for them to ask you. Why not go to these guys and get your cards. This will show that you are interested in the Scouts of your town. We cannot all be leaders but you can help to keep us going.

Our Founder's name is pledged tonight

By every loyal Scout;
As every Scout becomes a man,
And still remains a Scout.

Church Service

Sunday, February 22nd

All Scouts, Guides, Brownies and Cubs will attend Church Service at St. Paul's United Church on Sunday, February 22nd. The group will meet at the Community Hall at 10.30 a.m. Parents are asked to come to church with your children to pay tribute to Lord Baden Powell.

St. Paul's W.M.S.

Gay hearts and cupids, red carnations in a green glass bowl and candlelight made a cheerful setting on a snowy afternoon for the February meeting of St. Paul's W.M.S. Mrs. R. Stapley played quiet music.

The President, Mrs. A. Packman, in the call to worship, spoke of the importance of being prepared for prayer. We should prepare our hearts for prayer in church, in our meetings and in our homes.

Mrs. V. Richardson took charge of the worship service, which was based on the Book of Jonah. The hymn, "O Master of the Waking World" was sung. Mrs. D. Williams read the Scriptures from Jonah 3: 1-5 and 10 and 4: 1-11 and gave the comment.

The Book of Jonah is an inspired Jewish writing. It is a plea for a larger conception of God, who has a passionate concern for all nations not just the Jewish nation. Mrs. Richardson led in prayer. Mrs. Packman, after leading in discussion concluded that the Book of Jonah embodied Christian principles, although a Jewish book.

Mrs. R. Stapley, accompanied by Mrs. H. David rendered a beautiful southern spiritual type solo, "I Just Steal Away and Pray."

Mrs. Richardson, as Citizenship Secretary, led in a study of unemployment and immigration. Mrs. D. Williams spoke of the social differences of new Canadians. Mrs. H. Wells spoke on Canada's post war policy and Mrs. Brooks of our responsibility to new Canadians. We should try to understand them and break down prejudice.

Dr. Packman mentioned the wealth of culture brought by Greeks, Italians, French, British, Dutch and many other nations.

To the question so often heard, Do the immigrants take jobs from our citizens and cause unemployment? Mrs. E. Eggleton pointed out that these newcomers required food, houses, household effects, which boosted our industrial output.

Mrs. R. A. Patterson spoke of the new arts and crafts brought to this country and of the splendid exhibit by our local Dutch people at the Stirling Centennial.

Mrs. H. David stated that our church must show brotherly kindness and make the new Canadians feel at home. Mrs. R. Christie mentioned that our community can always appreciate the skilled workers and craftsmen of our new Canadians.

Mrs. W. T. Elliott, Stewardship

Secretary, stated that stewardship means sharing and explained the sketch of the "Well of Confidence." As we drop our money in the well each month we gradually raise the level till our allocation is reached. She announced that the March 10th meeting would be a dessert luncheon at 1:00 p.m. Mrs. H. M. Davis, Presbyterial Secretary of Stewardship will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. E. Eggleton displayed the book shelf. Mrs. S. Elliott, Friendship Secretary, reported 22 calls and 6 cards sent. Mrs. Packman dedicated the offering. She led in prayer for our Missionary, Miss Evelyn Matthews, of Saskatchewan, and closed with the benediction.

Mrs. Richardson and her group served tea, sandwiches and tarts.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patterson Hosts To Horticultural Society

The February meeting of the Stirling Horticultural Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patterson. The President, Mrs. Bronson, was in charge of the meeting.

Several items of business were dealt with. One important matter was the time and date for the regular meetings. Following a motion it was decided to hold the meetings on the second Tuesday of each month at 8:00 o'clock sharp.

The Society is having new window boxes made for the library as well as furnishing the flowers for these boxes.

The canvassing committee has been appointed and are looking forward to going over the membership of 194 members of last year. There is plenty of work to be done by the Horticultural Society in cleaning up some of the neglected spots in the town. Let us all join the Society and work together again this year.

The Society is looking forward to having a speaker for the March meeting. Watch your local paper for further announcement.

After the business was concluded Mrs. Chris Bateman, of Springbrook, showed some very interesting slides of her home and garden and other places which were very much enjoyed. Mrs. Brooks conducted a contest and gave a reading on the work of Mrs. Shephardson at the Woman's Prison, Kingston. The women are very interested in gardening and have some very nice gardens.

Lunch followed and a social time was had by all. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Patterson by Mrs. Fred Bateman.

Horticultural Society Hints

Pansy seed and petunia seed should be sown indoors about the last of February and kept growing right along until time to set them outdoors.

The pansy plants may be set outdoors in April (weather permitting) but the petunias should not go outdoors until all danger of frost is past.

When seedlings become spindly and weak it is usually due to lack of light. After seedlings are up they should be kept in full light and moderate temperature. If the seedlings are too thick they will become leggy and thin. As soon as the tiny plants are large enough to handle they should be transplanted so each tiny plant will have adequate room to grow.

How to start these indoors — You won't need much space. A 6 or 7 inch pot will provide from 20 to 50 seedlings.

Sowing Seed — Cover drainage hole with rock or pieces of broken pot. Fill container to inch of top with vermiculite. Sow directly on the vermiculite, not too thickly. Do not firm the vermiculite.

Watering — First watering should be thorough. Soaking pot in water until moisture reaches top of vermiculite is a good way. Later watering should be light. If pots are kept too moist, the seedlings will be spindly, and fungus diseases may get a start.

Transplanting — If you have a protected porch or sold frame you can transfer seedlings to a flat and grow them there for a short time or a fairly cool location in the house.

Another way is to put good soil in the pot, sow seeds and cover with vermiculite. This is good practice in the outside garden as we tend to cover the seeds too deeply.

Pinch back young annuals when they are 6 to 8 inches high to make them branch.

Four people were found dead in a parking lot on January 18th, in a car with a broken exhaust and gaps in the floor. This, points out the Ontario Safety League, is yet another tragic illustration of the fact that carbon monoxide gas is both deadly and insidious.

Urge Government To Trim Deficit

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce Friday urged the government to trim its deficit and restrain its spending to protect Canadians against the possibility of dangerous inflation.

A chamber delegation, meeting with Finance Minister Fleming and Revenue Minister Nowlan, suggested that where possible and feasible Federal projects that can be postponed be taken out of 1959-60's forecast peak spending of more than $6,000,000,000 and shelved until some later period.

The government also should give notice that in the event of heavy inflation, it would halt expansion of the country's money supply and budget for a surplus even if this means a rise in taxation.

"Such assertions should, under present conditions, be sufficient to dispel a good deal of the inflationary psychology," said the chamber.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce delegation was headed by Morgan Reid, of Toronto, chairman of the chamber's executive council. The organization represents about 750 local chambers and boards of trade across the country.

Current tax rates are too high, the chamber said, but it agreed that under current conditions little can be expected in the way of tax cuts.

The pulp and paper industry purchases a third of its wood from small holdings.

Allan School

Valentine Party

The Junior Red Cross of the Allan School sponsored their annual Valentine party and held the event a day earlier on Thursday afternoon.

The pupils delighted with several valentine readings; solos, duets; etc. Judy Cooney gave her speech entitled "Electricity in the Home," which she will repeat at Tweed next week. Two new films on Baffin Land were shown for the first time. They were purchased from their Fair prize money.

The teacher, Mrs. Grace L. Morton, was pleasantly surprised when Calvin Sharp and Judy Cooney made the presentation of a valentine cake with three candles. On Friday, February 13th, 1959, Mrs. Morton began her teaching duties at the Allan School.

She voiced grateful thanks for the kind remembrance.

Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A.

The February meeting of Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Fitchett with 12 in attendance.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley presided over a programme prepared by Mrs. Gordon Nelson and Mrs. Harold Chambers and opened the meeting with reading a poem. The hymn, "O Word of God Incarnate" was sung with Miss Joyce Stapley pianist. The Scripture reading from St. Luke 4: 1-21 was read by Mrs. Murney Kirkey with the meditation on the lesson "Is it nothing to you?" being given by Mrs. C. Fitchett.

The offering was gathered and dedicated with prayer. Mrs. W. McMullen gave a reading, "The Beginning of Lent," followed by a lovely vocal solo, "Open My Eyes, That I May See," contributed by Mrs. M. Clancy. Mrs. Harold Chambers read "My Grandmother's Valentine." The fourth chapter from the study book on "The United States and Trends of the Church" was very interestingly presented by Mrs. Gordon Nelson.

Mrs. McMullen, W.A. President, took charge. The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Warren Harlow with Mrs. C. Fitchett appointed to prepare the programme. Plans were made for a number to attend the annual W.M.S. Presbyterial meeting on February 18th in Picton.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hill)

CANADIAN WRITERS

Because I belong to the Canadian Author's Association, I've met many of our best Canadian writers, and I am much impressed. One of the things that impresses me most is that you seldom hear them moaning about the lack of opportunity for Canadians. The successful Canadian writers are doing pretty well.

The other day I picked up an American magazine noted for its excellent cultural content, and I immediately recognized three of the contributors as Canadians — a poet, a short-story writer, and an essayist. Quite a good score for a single issue! And their work stood out in the issue for its wonderful quality. They hadn't slanted their writing for American consumption, because they all used Canadian backgrounds.

Today I picked up the wealthy, slick-papered Saturday Evening Post, and the very first item I read was by John V. Hicks, talented writer from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. Of course, Canadian writers have often been Post regulars — men like R. Ross Annett, Edward McCourt, Jack Paterson, etc.

Canadian writers are also being welcomed by American television networks. Mac Shoub, of Montreal, is an American favourite, for example. H. Gordon Green is another. And it is thrilling to learn that four of the hour long G.M. television dramas were being broadcast by the American Broadcasting Company simultaneously with CBC. It was disappointing that ABC took only four, but that's a start. It was also disappointing that one of the scheduled dramas, by John Whelan, who wrote the powerful "Maiden Voyage" in the same series, was crowded out of the foursome at the last minute.

A Canadian writer willing to work hard has a tremendous market available to him. Our own journals, such as Saturday Night, Chatelaine, Maclean's, go out of their way to encourage canuck talent; and American magazines certainly place no barrier against them. Indeed, many American magazines and advertising agencies assign stories, articles, and the writing of advertising campaigns to Canadian scribes, because they like the vigor displayed in a great deal of Canadian prose.

Any young Canadian who wants a writing career can be sure that if he has the talent and the willingness to work, he has a fair chance to make a decent living at it. He shouldn't be scared off by pessimistic talk about the lack of opportunity here. In reality, he probably has a better opportunity than a writer in any other country. Canadian publications give him special attention; American magazines give him an even break. What more could a writer ask?

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

A Bible Quiz sponsored by Israel offers to the Quiz winner a trip to Israel.

In Argentina, South America, a "Bible Quiz" is sponsored by Israel as a part of its tenth anniversary celebration. The program is transmitted by Radio Belgrano, which has international outreach. All questions are based on the Bible, and judges are a Jewish Rabbi, a Roman Catholic Priest, and a Protestant Pastor. Each participant receives a copy of the Scriptures and the winner is to receive a trip to Israel.

The British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada will provide gratis on request a list of daily Bible readings for the year.

Canadian Library Week

Hundreds of towns and cities from coast to coast will join Canada's first national campaign to promote more reading by Canadians.

The six-week programme will be topped off with the first annual Canadian Library Week April 12th to 18th.

Librarians, teachers, writers, clergymen and other interested citizens are planning a wide range of activities in their communities through local committees.

The programme is being directed by the Canadian Library Week Council headed by its Patron, Hon. Dana Porter, Chief Justice of Ontario, and Chairman, J. Roby Kidd, Director of Canadian Association for Adult Education.

"Our aim is to remind Canadians of what the printed word means to our free society and to stimulate more reading of all kinds," Dr. Kidd said, in announcing the campaign.

Behind the decision to carry out the programme is a growing alarm over national reading habits.

"Canadian Library Week is a focus for the activities of many groups and individuals who share its objectives," the Council says. "It can be a catalyst working with all these other forces for the support of libraries and the spread of all types of reading."

The Canadian Library Week Council Campaign is run out of voluntary subscriptions and supported partially through funds of the Canada Council.

Many Problems Face Epileptics

At the present stage the Association is satisfied that medical research is making good progress and this does not constitute the most urgent problem confronting epileptics, according to a National Health release from the building being planned will be the real tragedy is that, while medicine has made great strides in its struggle against the scourge of epilepsy in the last 20 years, public attitudes have not begun to keep pace, and more so employers. Since the discovery of Dilantin in the 1930's, an array of increasingly effective drugs have been developed to control seizures, and new surgical techniques have produced remarkable cures in cases caused by physical injury.

The most pressing problem is the rehabilitation of epileptics whose seizures have been brought under control by medical treatment. Because of the frightening nature of the epileptic seizure . . . no matter how rarely such seizures occur . . . business men are reluctant to employ any epileptic, although covered by workmen's compensation. Many others, who are reliable workers at non-hazardous jobs, find it impossible to obtain the most mental work once their condition is known, and there are others who could perform suitable work under competent supervision.

Bruce H. Smith Elected Head of Authority

Bruce H. Smith, of Belleville, has been named chairman of the Mohr River Conservation Authority for his sixth term. Others re-elected were: Vice-president Earl Sager, reeve of Madoc Township, and field officer Michael Chubb.

Municipalities within the conservation area will be required to raise $13,470 of the authority's budget of $29,065 for the year. A provincial grant will match this amount. The balance is covered by a Dominion-Provincial winter work grant.

Winter work of brushing, repairing fences, planting 22,000 trees and building an access road in the Col. Vanderwater Conservation Area at Thomasburg has been held up due to bad weather conditions, Mr. Chubb reported.

Belleville Boy Scouts were granted permission to use part of this area for summer scouting activities.

Committee conveners of the authority are the following: Reforestation, T. C. Graham, Tweed; Water Control, George Wishart, Belleville; Conservation Areas, Leslie McLaren, Tyendinaga; Education and Publicity, Cecil Ketcheson, Halloway; Soil and Water, Bernard J. Hunt, Hungerford.

What Others Say

A COUNCILOR HITS BACK

(An editorial by Foster M. Russell, Publisher of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star).

Being a member of town council is not all sugar and spice. There's a modicum of sour cream. The job demands attendance at meetings. It entails answers to problems in which said councillor can lose business (if he has any); if he lives up to his convictions (if he has any); and he can lose the confidence of voters in a controversy, if he chooses to sit on a fence.

At meetings a councillor's conscience (if he has one) can never be totally free. Before and after meetings his time is not his own; he is pestered on the street, his telephone at business and home rings constantly.

One councillor patted himself on the back the other day for his repartee. With reassessment, some resident taxes were higher and some were not. One single word of praise from the fortunate citizens was not heard by the councillor, but he did receive a telephone call from one whose taxes were raised.

As the tirade was unleashed the councillor promised himself he would be an ex-councillor next year.

Suddenly, he grasped at a straw. "By the way," he said, "what line of business are you in?"

"I'm a schoolteacher," came the reply.

"Oh," said the councillor, with tongue in cheek, "didn't you receive a salary increase . . .?"

"Yes, I did," quickly, with some heat, "and I and the other teachers deserved it, too."

"Of course you did," purred the councillor, "but what do you think that raise did to our tax rate?"

"I'm sorry," came the answer, "I never thought of that."

The Good Driver

Masters of a trade do not feel they have to advertise their supremacy on every occasion. A heavyweight champion does not set upon a man who beats him to a parking spot. The professional poker player expects to be bluffed out sometimes when he has the better hand. Great musicians have been known to listen to the bagpipes with every appearance of polite interest.

Similarly, a first class driver does not feel a need to be out in front all the time. He does not seek the lime-light, because there is no advantage or attraction in doing so. He has the relaxed satisfaction of having extra competence, that needs no display.

The essence of good driving, points out the Ontario Safety League, is inconspicuous efficiency. And the key word is "inconspicuous." Everything that attracts undue attention to the man at the wheel is bad driving.

Competition has no place in good highway driving. There are no world champions. There is plenty of room at the top for everyone.

Canadians trying to reduce should add deep breathing to the programme. Greater oxygen intake burns off waste fats, helps reduce poundage.

Paper is Canada's greatest export.

Prospecting Slumped In Ontario Last Year

Prospecting activity throughout Ontario suffered a relapse in 1958 according to figures issued by the Ontario Department of Mines. The 23,980 claims recorded last year were down by nearly 7,000 from the 30,947 registered in 1957. This is the fourth consecutive year in which staking activity has shown a decline from the all-time high of 57,367 recorded in 1955.

Last year's slump is attributed to the decline in the market price of some of the base metals which is thought to make the acquisition of mining real estate a less attractive proposition than it normally is. However, increased prospecting activity in some of the mining divisions in the province toward the end of the year would indicate that a partial restoration of normal prices will lead to renewed interest.

Gains were registered in three divisions over the previous year but these were more than offset by reduced totals in some of the other offices. The divisions showing increases were Fort Frances, Larder Lake and Montreal River.

It is estimated that with claims cancelled during the year being balanced against those recorded, there were at the end of 1958 approximately 64,000 mining claims in good standing throughout the province.

During the year there were altogether 7,044 miners' licenses issued or renewed. This is down from the 9,278 issued or renewed in 1957.

The record of claims staked in each of the divisions last year as compared with the number for 1957 is shown below:

	1957	1958
Fort Frances	433	801
Kenora	1,247	1,090
Larder Lake	1,630	2,276
Montreal River	1,458	1,462
Parry Sound	291	39

Porcupine	2,456	1,461
Port Arthur	4,351	4,027
Red Lake	1,078	2,867
Saul Ste. Marie	2,842	1,385
Sudbury	4,959	3,063

KETOSIS IN CATTLE WINTER DISEASE PROBLEM

Ketosis, a disease of dairy cows is most likely to strike during the winter months. According to the Ontario Veterinary College, ketosis is most commonly found in cows which are kept in the barn most of the time, and is found during the early lactation period. Usually the first visible signs of the disease are a general loss of weight and condition, and a drop in both quality and quantity of milk production.

Veterinary practitioners report that a drug which has been used extensively in human medicine shows promise as a treatment for bovine ketosis. The drug which is a cortisone-like compound is capable of bringing the blood sugar levels up to normal very quickly. This is usually followed by a return of the animal's appetite and a general improvement in condition.

FEDERAL SUBSIDIES CALCULATED

Canada Department of Agriculture subsidies and grants for the fiscal year 1957-58 reached $56.4 million.

This exceeds the $45 million outlay in each of the two previous years, and nearly equals the $57.2 million spent in 1954-55.

Higher outlays on a few programs accounted for most of the rise.

Federal payments in Prairie Farm Assistance Administration awards amounted to $11.6 million, while none had been necessary the year before.

At $11.4 million, disbursement on land reclamation and water conservation programs was $1.3 million less than what was spent in 1956-57.

Price support losses recouped by parliamentary vote reached $5.9 million, compared with $4.9 million in 1956-57. For individual commodities supported, the 1957-58 losses were as follows, with the previous year's figures in brackets: Butter, $2.78 ($4.71) million; dry skimmed milk, $1.09 million (none); fowl, $154 thousand (none); eggs, $1.48 million ($55 thousand); potatoes, $480 ($5,000); apples, none ($132 thousand).

In 1957-58, there were no federal losses on commodities marketed under the Agricultural Products Co-Operative Marketing Act, compared with $182 thousand paid on potatoes a year earlier.

Costs Compared

Here is a run-down on additional 1957-58 disbursements, with comparative figures for the previous year:

In each case, the figure is in thousands — Cheese quality premiums, $641 ($845); cheese factory improvement, $411 ($511); compensation for diseased animals slaughtered, $129 ($148); cold storage warehouses, $572 ($795); grants to agricultural organizations, $326 ($222); grants to fairs and exhibitions, $1,182 ($945); freight assistance on western feed grains, $17,164 ($17,778); livestock programs, $78 ($74); hog premiums, $5,698 ($5,442); lime, $500 ($500); potato warehouse construction, none ($8); emergency movement of hay, none ($9).

NEW TOMATO VARIETIES FOR ONTARIO

Two new tomato varieties for Ontario have been announced by the Horticultural Experiment Station of the Ontario Department of Agriculture at Vineland.

The two new varieties are named

Vinered and Viceroy. Vinered is the earlier of the two. It was developed from a cross between the small-fruited, very early variety Early Chatham and the late, high-quality variety Rutgers. Viceroy came from a cross between Bounty and Rutgers.

Most of our present early varieties of tomatoes grown in Ontario were developed for the fresh market and are rather pale in colour for processing, states Dr. E. A. Kerr, who is in charge of plant breeding at the Horticultural Experiment Station. The two new varieties not only have good colour but they are able to set fruit at lower temperatures than most other varieties.

Although both varieties were developed as early varieties for the processing industry, they can be grown in the home garden. The Viceroy variety is large, meaty, and with attractive flavour. Vinered is a very early variety, and has an even better colour than Viceroy. However, like all other early varieties the yield per plant of both of the new varieties is lower than the yield of late varieties. Owing to sparse foliage, Viceroy may be susceptible to sunscald in a hot season, and both varieties should be sprayed carefully to retain all their foliage.

Unfortunately for home gardeners, Viceroy and Vinered were so promising last year that processing companies have bought almost the entire seed supply. However, the Horticultural Experiment Station at Vineland still have a few trial packets which will be distributed as long as they last. Both Vinered and Viceroy will be available from seed companies next fall.

PROCESSING PLANTS MUST BE SANITARY

No processor of food products should at any time be ashamed to open his plant for public inspection, according to F. J. Perry, supervisor of processed products, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Speaking in Ottawa at the annual conference of the Canadian Committee on Fruit and Vegetable Preservation, he said clean, sanitary plants improve quality of products and efficiency of employees.

Mr. Perry outlined some of the things federal inspectors look for when they visit factories, ranging from tidy outside premises to good housekeeping inside.

Clean Clothes

For instance, he stressed that employees should be provided with clean uniforms or aprons and that female employees should cover their hair with caps or nets. Washing should be compulsory, and dressing and washing rooms provided. Smoking should be prohibited where food is being prepared.

In the early days of the processing industry, Mr. Perry recalled, plant sanitation was literally unknown. Conditions at some plants were "deplorable." Through the years, though, sanitation has been brought to a position of importance.

Summed up Mr. Perry: "It is a true saying that 'good plant sanitation leads to better processed foods'."

BASIS OF PROSPERITY

Fluctuations in the national income closely parallel variations in pulp and paper production. Prosperity in the industry and in Canada are inseparable.

1959 Field Crop Recommendations For Ontario

Can any recommendations be made now for Ontario growers of field crops in 1959?

Yes, states Dr. D. N. Huntley, Head of the Department of Field Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College. In forage crops, for instance, the most important species continue to be the legumes, alfalfa and red clover, and the grasses, brome and timothy. In these species, varieties are becoming more available and in many cases should be used.

Vernal alfalfa should be the most widely sown variety of alfalfa in 1959, says Dr. Huntley. DuPuits alfalfa, introduced to Ontario a few years ago, has different characteristics from Vernal and other typically northern-type alfalfa varieties in that it grows much more vigorously in the spring and fall, and after cutting. In short rotations and where the crop can be cut early for grass silage or very early cut hay, this variety can be used to advantage through a large part of old Ontario. A short time ago, a new variety of the same type as DuPuits was licensed in Canada. This variety is called Alfa. Since seed of DuPuits may be in short supply, it is fortunate that seed supplies are available of Alfa, which is of similar type and performance.

A new variety of spring barley, called York, appears on the recommended list for the first time this year. This variety was distributed to elite seed growers last year and several thousand bushels are available for seeding in 1959. York is a high-yielding feed barley, somewhat similar to Brant, but much stronger strawed and with much better threshability.

Additional recommendations for all field crops in Ontario for 1959, including the increasingly popular birdsfoot trefoil, appear in Ontario Department of Agriculture circular 296, "Field Crop Recommendations for Ontario in 1959." It is obtainable at the office of the County Agricultural Representative.

BRUCELLOSIS RULES NOT EXPORT BAN

United States regulations concerning brucellosis and the importation of cattle should not seriously restrict Canadian beef exports, says Agriculture Minister Harkness.

There are, he says, about 5,000 herds under the brucellosis-free listed herd policy. Cattle from all these herds are eligible for export.

The regulations, introduced last November, permit entry into the U.S. of six classes of cattle:

1. Cattle from brucellosis-free listed herds.
 2. Cattle from brucellosis certified areas.
 3. Cattle from herds which are neither listed nor in certified areas but which have passed a negative herd test within 90 days.
 4. Cattle, up to 30 months of age, officially calfhood-vaccinated against brucellosis.
 5. Range cattle of the beef breeds from Western Canada.
 6. Cattle for immediate slaughter.
- In Ontario, two Counties, Oxford and Prince Edward, are already certified areas. Three others, Halton, Stormont and Dundas, will be certified soon.

Nine other counties are under test and should be completed before summer. Meanwhile, as herds in these counties or elsewhere pass a negative test, they are eligible for export.

Testings Under Way
These 14 counties take in most of the major Ontario cattle export area. A further 17 counties in the province have been accepted for testing and will be proceeded with as quickly as possible.

Elsewhere in Canada, Prince Edward Island has been completely certified; three counties have been certified in Nova Scotia and five in New Brunswick, and three additional counties are under test in each of these provinces. Seven areas are under test in Quebec.

Testing is proceeding in Western Canada and some areas have been certified.

As the result of progress in brucellosis testing and the provision for the export of western feeder cattle and cattle for immediate slaughter, the new U.S. requirements should not seriously restrict Canadian cattle exports, concludes the minister.

The first suggestion that there should be a government park at Niagara Falls to accommodate sight-seers was made in 1795.

The greatest problem people have to face today is keeping their ambitions planned down to their salaries.

LACOMBE HOGS

About 100 Lacombe boars and 30 breeding groups, consisting of one boar and three gilts, will be available to Canadian breeders in April this year, the Canada Department of Agriculture announced.

The Lacombe breed is the result of a hybridization and selection program initiated by the department in 1947 which combined the blood of the Danish Landrace, the Chester White, and the Berkshire breeds.

This is the third release of Lacombe boars. As in 1957 and again last year, a chance draw will decide which commercial producers get the boars.

First release of Lacombe females was made last fall, when 20 breeding groups were sold to breeders in the three prairie provinces and Ontario.

Officials stress that these breeding groups are for the propagation of purebred Lacombe by private breeders and that only those interested in raising Lacombe, with some experience in raising purebred livestock, should apply.

Application forms and details of regulations concerning the draws are available from the Lacombe, Alberta, Experimental Farm. Deadline for applications is April 11th. Only applications on official forms will be considered.

At a Lacombe public draw, ownership of breeding groups will be decided first and successful applicants who also applied for a boar will be eliminated from that draw.

Crossed Eyes Can Be Cured

Canadians are urged to guard their sight as one of their most precious possessions. Doctors say that with proper care half the 2,672 sightless citizens would have their sight today. To teach Canadians how to safeguard their sight is part of the work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. In fulfilling this responsibility CNIB has recently produced a film.

Using colour, sound, numerous dramatic devices and the double impact of the audio visual medium, the film tentatively titled "A Chance in Sight" will drum home the idea that unless crossed eyes (strabismus) is caught in its early stages, blindness in one eye is almost a certainty.

The film is the result of some years' observation on the part of CNIB personnel. Executive officers, Field Secretaries and social workers report from all provinces that most people believe that crossed eyes in children will straighten of their own accord with the passing of time. In reality, just the opposite is true. Crossed eyes cause the child to see two of everything. If nature is allowed to take its course, the weaker eye stops seeing. This reduces the visual image to a single object but the sight of one eye is sacrificed in the process. Each year hundreds of Canadian children suffer this type of blindness and the tragedy is the more lamentable because the condition need never have developed. If crossed eyes are corrected under a doctor's direction during the first few years of childhood, both eyes work together. Both eyes see in unison and the child observes the same single image world that he would have seen had the condition never existed.

Parents don't like this. They neglect to take their children to the eye doctor and by the time the school nurse discovers the problem the damage is done and one eye is gone.

To inform parents about the true facts on the cure of crossed eyes CNIB has joined forces with Motion Picture Centre, a highly recommended film company.

THE FOOD BASKET

TURNIP TIPS AND TRIUMPHS

Mild-flavoured turnips have become one of Canada's most important vegetable crops. In the 1957-58 crop year 3,562,920 bushels of turnips were grown in Ontario alone. Of these, 1,707,069 bushels, or almost half the crop, were exported to the United States where this popular vegetable is known as rutabaga.

Canadian homemakers, on the whole, haven't attempted many methods of cooking turnips other than boiling them diced or in larger pieces for mashing. Not too many years ago most turnips had a strong flavour and so were boiled in a large amount of water in order to get rid of some of the bitterness. Today's mild turnips do not require this drastic treatment, however, as they are not bitter at all unless greatly overcooked. Like other vegetables when boiled, turnips should be cooked quickly (20 to 25 minutes) until just tender in a small amount of water, to conserve the flavour and vitamins (turnips are a good source of Vitamin C).

As you will see from the recipes and ideas given here the turnip is really quite a versatile vegetable. The Consumer Section recommends that, besides cooking turnips, you include grated raw turnip in tossed vegetable salads and serve raw turnip curls, sticks or wedges frequently, as the "something crisp and fresh" so important in today's meals.

Seasonings and Sauces For Turnips

(1) To cooked, diced or mashed turnips add butter, salt and pepper and one of the following: nutmeg, chopped parsley, brown sugar, or grated cheese (reheat to melt cheese).

(2) Fold diced cooked turnip into a medium cream sauce. Add drained canned peas, if desired.

(3) In a heavy frying pan, either in the oven or on top of the stove, glaze slices or fingers of boiled turnip with honey, maple syrup, or brown sugar and butter. Another time cook diced, unpeeled apple in the glaze first for about 5 minutes, then add the boiled turnip pieces and finish glazing together.

Driving at its best is a rare pleasure, comments the Ontario Safety League... the kind of pleasure that comes with confident skill in any pursuit.

Bethel United Church Has Successful Year

County Needs Social Workers

There is urgent need for a trained social worker in the northern part of the county, the Hastings County Children's Aid Society decided at its annual meeting held in Belleville recently.

Despite this need and publicity there has been no application from any northern resident for such an appointment.

At present the society is caring for 247 children. This number is considerably fewer than last year's total. The Society agreed that rates for the care of foster children should be increased. Under a new schedule 80 children were admitted to the care of CAS last year, 96 left in the care of the society and 50 placed in adoption.

Fire Truck Stolen From Marmora

If there'd been a fire alarm raised in Marmora Tuesday before 10.00 a.m. the village fire department would have been caught not only with their pants down, but with their pants absolutely nowhere in sight.

During the night somebody stole the fire truck.

It was found around 9.30 a.m. in a snowbank on a country road two and a half miles away.

Was it the work of a prankster? "If it was, pointed out Fire Chief Jim Walker, he should realize it's no joke."

Then whodunnit? Cpl. Doug Sears of Madoc OPP is trying to find out.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The February meeting of St. Andrew's Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Tompkins with a good attendance. The co-hostesses were Mrs. Ken Ray and Mrs. Robt. Cooke.

Words of welcome were expressed by the President, Mrs. B. Reid, who also thanked Mrs. Tompkins for opening her home for the meeting. After singing a hymn, Mrs. E. Fox read the Scripture Lesson on "Love." The key-word was taken from John 15. Mrs. B. Reid led in prayer.

Roll call was responded to by the members reading a message of love from the Bible.

Following the business period Mrs. Key Ray took charge of the meeting. She read the hymn "I Love To Tell the Story" and gave an explanatory note, stating this hymn was written by K. Hankey who was ill and always had a great love for her Bible. Through this hymn Miss Hankey tells to others the wonderful story.

Mrs. Don Farney gave a paper on Shrove Tuesday or Pancake Day. This reading gave her listeners a greater knowledge of the reason this day is observed every year. She also reminded her listeners that it was first held in the Stone Age when pancakes were made of moistened ground grain, then cooked.

Mrs. L. Munro gave a paper on the Beginning of Lenten Season and said

Mrs. H. R. Tompkins gave a message in a reading "Father Time's Bargain," in which we have a dream with Father Time and we were asked if we are always friendly, loyal, honest, true and ready for a smile. The more we take from our souls the more will be there for us to spend.

The topic, "The Soil and the Soul," was very ably given by Mrs. Lloyd Dafeo. She stated agriculture is a sacred life and Jesus was a farm boy. She also referred to the Parable of sowing the seed. The benediction closed this interesting meeting. Mrs. K. Ray led in a Bible quiz.

Mrs. Tompkins and her committee served tea and cookies. Mrs. E. Fox on behalf of the members voiced appreciation to all who had helped with the meeting.

Lafferty Transport Now Allied With K. G. Smith

The well-known Trenton firm of Lafferty Transport Limited has acquired an interest in the Belleville firm of K. G. Smith and Company Limited.

This is announced by officials of the company. Associated with them in this respect will be Ken Smith.

The Smith firm is Belleville's oldest and one of its largest transport companies.

It was originally formed by Fred Smith in 1907. Mr. Smith obtained the first truck in Belleville. This was a 1910 vintage chain-driven Ford.

Ten years later he became the pioneer of long distance driving in this area. When his sons joined in the active operation of the firm, it became known as Smith & Sons.

Teacher's Federation Dissatisfied At Deseronto

The Ontario Women Teachers and Men Teachers Federations have notified all their members that any teacher accepting a position in Deseronto Public School will lose support of the Federation because of dissatisfaction with salary offers by the Deseronto Board of Education.

While claiming that it is "not unprofessional" for a member to teach next year at Deseronto, the Federation makes it clear that such teachers are on their own.

A letter from the Federation was received at the February meeting of the Board and claimed that the teachers' organization is not satisfied with negotiations and offers of the board.

Most of the things we wait for aren't worth the delay.

Men who make big money are careful with their small change.

Men who are industrious, sincere, and honest will have easy sledding on their way to success.

Up" as he dashed out from a clump of trees with a toy gun in his hands. Baden Powell then suggested as a good motto for all scouts would be "Be Prepared for anything." The text was from Romans and two other letters of St. Paul in which he said: "I Am Ready" — Ready to preach, Ready to be bound and Ready to die if needs be.

The speaker pointed out that it would be a good thing for the community if we all were ready to be bound by the laws of community instead of being ready to sabotage those laws for our own convenience.

Marmora Bantams Win First Game Play-off Series From Stirling

Game Played In Local Arena Tuesday Marred By Actions of Rowdy Fans

Stirling Bantams dropped the first game of the play-off series with Marmora at the Henry Street Arena on Tuesday night by a score of 9 to 4. The second game of the home and home series will be played in Marmora on Saturday night.

The game here was marred by the rowdiness of a small section of the fans who threw pop bottles, nails and assorted articles at the visiting referee-in-chief from Marmora. It was only good fortune that some one wasn't seriously injured. The incident occurred following a penalty to one of the local players and the local O.M.H.A. executive, team management and fans in general deeply regret the occurrence. Regardless of the provocation there is no excuse for such actions, which have been foreign to Stirling fans, and needless to say steps should be taken to see that it doesn't occur again.

Good Game

Getting back to the game itself, it was a good exhibition of hockey, with the visiting team showing a marked superiority on the night's play.

Danny Shannon, son of Reeve Wm. Shannon, of the northern village, was the big gun for the visitors accounting for five of the visitors' goals. Danny Fraser got three and Garry McInroy, a single counter.

For Stirling the scoring was divided with D. McMaster, Jack Donnan, Allan Wrightman and Jack Wright doing the honours.

The visitors opened the scoring midway in the first period with Shannon being the marksman. He repeated at the 16.48 mark and Danny Fraser made it 3:10 at the 17.45 mark.

David McMaster broke the ice for Stirling early in the second period but the visitors came back strong to whip home three counters, two by D. Fraser and one by McInroy, to make the score 6 to 1.

In the third stanza the locals punched home three more counters by Donnan, Wrightman and Wright, but they were matched by the visitors with Shannon counting three to make the final score 9 to 4.

Johnny Meyers Rotary Speaker

Johnny Meyers, of Belleville, was the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Stirling Rotary Club on Tuesday night.

Introduced by Rotarian Clare E. West, the speaker, who is paralyzed from the waist down as the result of an accident, told of his work in painting landscapes and portraits and manufacturing TV lamps, coffee tables, etc. from driftwood. He also exhibited some samples of his work, depicting in a vivid manner what he had accomplished with intensive effort and training.

Stirling Bantams Win Series From Campbellford

(K. Kingston in Campbellford Herald)

Stirling Bantams ousted their Campbellford counterparts in a thrilling series which went the three-game limit. Each team had won a game at home, and the sudden-death play-off took place in Campbellford Arena last Thursday night.

Unfortunately sub-zero weather prevailed and doubtlessly accounted in part for the empty pews. But the few fans who did brave the winter's cold saw, as predicted, a whale of a battle with the visiting Stirling club coming from behind in the final frame to take the game 4-2, and with it the round and the right to advance into the next O.M.H.A. play-off series. The third period was very tense as the Stirling boys tied the score on Andy Faulkner's goal right from the drop of the puck, and then only a minute later took the lead for the first time in the fray with the star of the night, Jackie Donnan turning the trick. Campbellford failed to take advantage of Stirling penalties in their desperate quest for the equalizer with the score 3-2 for the visitors. It was not until the final minute of play that Jackie Donnan scored the insurance goal.

Earlier in the night Campbellford capitalized on a Stirling penalty to open the scoring with Gary Stewart turning the trick. Stirling returned the compliment just before the period's end on Jackie Donnan's first the marksman.

Late in the second frame the home team regained the lead which sent them off for the second rest period leading 2-1. Gary Stewart was again the marksman.

It is worthy of note that Jackie Donnan, of Stirling, performed the "hay trick" (three goals), a man-sized feat in this low-scoring encounter, and figured in all four Stirling scores. Gary Stewart accounted for both Campbellford goals. A regrettable accident occurred early in the middle frame when Stirling goalie Lynn Rowe stopped a close-in shot with his forehead and had to retire temporarily for repairs. But he gamely returned to action and appeared completely unshaken by the blow. The visitors carried Bob McArton as a spare netminder but his services were not required.

Although this closely-balanced series might have gone either way, the general opinion was that Stirling were the better team, and that the first game of the series, which went in Campbellford's favour, was a personal victory for goalie Bill Donad who held the fort so nobly enabling his team to win that one.

These 13 and 14-year-olds dish up a fine brand of hockey purely for the love of the game and to bring honour to their home communities and deserve wholehearted support.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

Oriental floral designs on colourful covers for Gospel portions were introduced by the late Lyman MacCallum when he became Bible Society Secretary of Bible Lands North.

The great masses of the people in the Near East are poor, incredibly poor sometimes. The question of price is therefore of immense importance because it is the policy of the Bible Society to offer the Scripture at prices which the people can afford. Cost of production must be kept as low as possible; but at the same time produce a book that is attractive and a pleasure to handle.

Heavy demands for Scriptures are daily experienced by the Bible Society depots. All printing projects must be planned well in advance in order to maintain an adequate supply of Scriptures.

The Good Driver

A car cutting into line ahead by merely a slight change of scenery. There's no need to take it as a major disaster, or a challenging insult — suggests the Ontario Safety League.

It may delay you two or three seconds, or it may have no effect on your time of arrival. It certainly doesn't call for any passionate reaction.

In any case, what would you do with the few seconds you might clip off your travel time by shutting out the driver in the next lane? What's so special about the company of your work colleagues, or the pile of chores at home, that you have to burn up nerves and brake linings to get there a moment earlier?

Curious but true: the younger the driver (as a rule) the more pleasure he gets out of each moment at the wheel... and the more he strains to cut short the time spent in the comfort of his car on any set journey!

Many good drivers, knowing that to keep a correct distance invites cutting-in by thrusting types in other lanes, play a mental game with the place plinchers. Try it. Fix a "cutters-in quota" — perhaps one for every ten minutes of city driving. If fewer than three cars edge in during half an hour, a point is lost; it suggests that you may be driving too close to the car ahead. It's much more relaxing to look forward to filling a quota than to ride your nerves making sure that the haggard hurrier in the next lane never gets a chance to get his nose in ahead of you.

In this game you get a premium of amused enjoyment, (undisclosed we hope) when the cutter-in swings back into the passing lane again and gets stuck, suffering visibly, behind a left-turning car while you go purring through to the right. If you can pass the same thruster five times on the way to work without changing lanes yourself, it counts as a royal flush, or game-set-and-match.

Attempting to beat the flow is unprofitable, and ulcer-developing; especially in city traffic. You know the rule well, but here it is again... Keep at least one car's length back of the car ahead for every 10 m.p.h. of speed. More if conditions are bad.

Following the banquet Wesley Finch, Past President, introduced the officers present: (1) Springbrook Local, President, Morton Reid; Vice-President, Geo. Williams; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Gordanier; (2) County Officers, Lady Director, Mrs. Fred Bailey, Cooper; Sub-Directors, Clarence Graham, Thomasburg; Fred Elliott, Roslin; Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams, Springbrook; (3) Provincial Officer, Gordon Hill, of Varna, Provincial President for Ontario.

Murray Bateman sang a song composed by himself about the Farmer's Union and gave an encore.

Mr. Clarence Graham introduced the guest speaker, Gordon Hill, President of the Ontario Farmer's Union. Mr. Hill capably spoke on Vertical Integration, using illustrations from both poultry and hog raisers to show results. He urged farmers to oppose this and to unite to save the family-type farm. He also spoke on rabies problems, the delegation of farmers planning to visit Ottawa. He then conducted a discussion period.

Mr. Fred Elliott thanked the speaker and those who had provided the programme numbers.

Entered Into Rest

DANIEL J. (DINNY) DORAN
NATIVE OF STIRLING

(Belleville Intelligencer)

Following a visit to his sister in Smiths Falls late in December, Daniel J. (Dinny) Doran, 11 Earl Street, Belleville, was admitted to St. Francis Hospital in that town and died on Sunday afternoon. He had been in failing health for some time.

"Dinny" Doran, as he was familiarly known to a host of friends, was born in Stirling, being the son of the late William Doran and Elizabeth Kerby, but went to Belleville at an early age and had continuously resided in that community. He was educated in Belleville and was employed with the Belleville Lock Company as a brass finisher for many years and was held in high esteem both by management and his fellow employees.

He was an ardent sportsman, being proficient in bowling and billiards and took an active interest in the baseball and hockey teams of Belleville, especially the old Nationals in baseball and the Eddie Thomas team when such stars as the late Bill Green, the late "Daw" Whalen and "Gunner" Arnott were in their heyday. He was a person of quiet nature, never spoke ill of anyone and was always a true and tried friend. He will be sadly missed by a wide circle of friends. He never married.

He was a member of St. Michael's Church, Belleville and fraternally a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. John

(Priscilla) Hogan, Smiths Falls, and Mrs. John (Mary) Iueleite, of Hornepayne.

The funeral took place on Wednesday morning from the George F. O'Brien Funeral Home to St. Michael's Church for Requiem Mass at 9.00 a.m.

Interment St. James' Cemetery.

Wellman's W.I.

The regular monthly meeting for February of Wellman's Women's Institute was held on the afternoon of February 18th at the home of Mrs. John Carlisle.

The President was unable to be present until later in the afternoon and in her absence Mrs. K. Tompkins led the meeting, opening with the Institute Ode, followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Clifford Clancy was elected to go to the District Director's Conference at Guelph in May.

Roll call was recalled a Valentine party, and showed the school parties to be the popular ones. Mrs. Charles Dunham gave current events and Mrs. J. Pollock gave the motto which had been prepared by Mrs. D. Clancy on "Faint heart never won fair lady."

Mrs. G. Watson sang a solo and Mrs. K. Tompkins conducted games and contests in keeping with Valentine's Day.

After thanks was extended to the hostess the meeting closed by repeating the Creed and singing the Queen.

Three Killed and Five Injured In Marmora Crash

Three people were killed and five others were injured, one critically, when two cars collided on Highway No. 7 two miles west of Marmora at 8.15 p.m. Saturday.

Dead are: Frederick George Collings, 48; Mrs. Jean Anderson, 49; Peter Anderson, 27, all of Symington Ave., Toronto.

The fourth passenger in this car was Donald Anderson, 13, who is still in critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

The four people in the other car, all from Madoc, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with various injuries.

Edward Hyde, 24, had his chest crushed and injured a leg. His wife, Marie, 22, received severe lacerations and internal injuries. They are both in hospital but their condition is satisfactory.

Mrs. Agnes Galloway, 35, suffered a broken left arm and Ernest Dunley, 33, injured a leg. Both have been released from hospital.

U.E.L. 175th Anniversary Plans Now In Making

Possibly the best definition of Loyalist can be found in "Loyalists of the American Revolution," by Col. Sabine. "The most intelligent, the best informed among us, readily confess the deficiency of their knowledge. The reason is obvious, men who, like the Loyalists, separated themselves from kindred, and friends; who surrendered their hopes and expectations of life, and became outlaws, wanderers and exiles; such men leave few memorials, their papers are scattered and lost and their very names pass from human recollection."

Well may Canada be proud of an ancestry whose principles, loyalty, indomitable will, and sturdy energy are the very foundation stones of her present prosperity.

To honour the 175th anniversary of the landing of such intrepid Loyalist pioneer builders of Canada calls for a suitable observance programme, plans for which are now in the making.

Quite likely some suggestions will be advanced by Judge Gerald F. Smith, of Napanee, in his talk to members of the Bay of Quinte Branch U.E.L. Association in the Memorial Building at Napanee on Thursday evening, March 5th at 8.00 o'clock.

If you are not yet a member, you are welcome to come and learn why and how you may become one.

Horticultural Society Hints

February may seem an off month for the gardener but we must remember that March, the busiest month of the year, is just ahead and start to anticipate, start to do anything that will make spring tasks easier. It's a good time to get your soil in and screened for starting seeds in flats. To paint and sharpen garden tools and to make inventory of your garden supplies.

Most gardens are spoiled by snap decisions, which the gardener makes in the heat of a busy season; so in February when you have leisure to let it rattle around in your mind and be sure that it is the thing you want to do. Get out your seed and garden books and study them thoroughly, then order, also you get what you order instead of substitutes.

Across the continent there are 28 trial locations for testing new varieties of flowers before they are offered to the public. Resident judges have two years in which to compare the entries with the nearest similar kinds already on the market. They score, evaluate and comment on each so that only the most worthwhile have a chance for an All-America award.

Pink Heather Alyssum is the outstanding annual for 1959. It is a free-bloomer over a long season and does well in almost any soil.

All-America winners of 1958 are now in more plentiful supply. Maytime petunia, largest of the hybrid grandiflora, is an exquisite light salmon pink colour, free long lasting bloomer and a long lasting cut flower.

Last year our new hardy chrysanthemums were Burning Bronze, Ruby King, Emperor and Showpiece, and this year's winners Crimson Lady, Flair and The Girl Friend. These are all cushion mums and worthy of your consideration.

Mrs. Clancy told the story about Lupe, a little girl from a Christian family, who by her Christian training and love of Jesus, forgave and was kind to the boy Ramon.

Ramon was always causing trouble among the children, but this kind act of Lupe's made a change in his life.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

GIVE US MORE

For once I find myself praising the CBC.

Recently, in Winnipeg, the CBC television station interrupted its regular schedule of national programmes to put on a local effort in aid of the community chest campaign. With one exception, the talent was local.

Perhaps there were a few flaws. I thought that there was too much use of the "Ladies and Gentlemen" salutation. However, as a show, it was a hit. It wasn't over-produced. It had spontaneity. The comic, a Winnipeg man, was far above average. One of the singers, Red Alix, disc jockey on a local private station CJOB, was a knockout. Everyone seemed at ease, there was none of the phony sophistication we've been getting in so many of the Toronto shows. (Although I must say that even Toronto has reformed in that regard, particularly on the programme "Showtime" which is now thoroughly professional.) I suspect that it cost very little to put on this Winnipeg effort, yet it was really worthwhile.

Why not more of the same? In the old days, when CBC began, we were led to believe that they would make a genuine effort to make use of talent right across the country. Shows originated from Regina, Winnipeg, Prince Albert — every little city in the nation, both from private stations and CBC-owned stations. Today, however, I doubt if more than 5 percent of the entire Canadian schedule originates outside of Montreal and Toronto. Did we build the costly microwave system to bring Toronto to the rest of Canada? What's the matter with Regina, London, Red Deer, Lethbridge, Moncton, Saint John, Barrie, Edmonton? I know there is a great deal of talent in Edmonton, for example. Surely one show a month!

Perhaps this Winnipeg effort indicates some new thinking at CBC headquarters, and a return to the days when their talent scouts held regular auditioning sessions across the country. Let us hope so.

It has often seemed to us, judging from the accents, that radio and television talent from London, England, is more likely to get a CBC break than is talent from London, Ontario, let alone Moose Jaw, Red Deer, or Trail.

It seems to us that CBC could save a great deal of the taxpayers' money and give us a good deal more refreshing entertainment by originating more programmes from outside Toronto.

Successful Year Shown In Reports W.M.S. Presbyterial

The morning session of the annual meeting of the Belleville Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada was under the chairmanship of the President, Mrs. Clarence Holmes, of Belleville. Some 200 members met Wednesday, February 18th at Picton United Church. Mrs. F. J. Whitely, of Picton, led the worship and Bible study period using "The Ministry of the Lark in and to the World" as her subject.

A tape recorded interview with the late Dr. Marian Hilliard, giving her convictions on "Women in the Church" was presented. This was a very thought-provoking record of questions answered in a very plain-spoken manner by Dr. Hilliard, a woman of much understanding of women and with an unshakable faith in God and His power. She said, "We are the church and the church is us, whether in the kitchen, field or factory. We are the body of the church." It shouldn't be necessary for lay men and lay women to be so busy with the work of the church that they lose their vitality and personality. Women of the church should articulate what they believe, be responsible for what they believe and be willing to do it anytime, anywhere.

Mrs. H. M. Davis, Belleville, introduced the new G.B.A. (Gifts for Building Advance) projects for 1959 as $25,000 for a Women's Training Centre in N. Rhodesia; $19,000 for the advancement of Indian work in Saskatchewan and British Columbia; $15,000 for missionary cars; $6,000 for home and overseas scholarships.

Mrs. Holmes introduced Mrs. J. H. McKinney, of Brooklin, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch. Mrs. McKinney prefaced her address by referring to the fine contributions of Mrs. W. G. Haggerty, of Cherry Valley, and Mrs. S. W. Spafford, of Aikens, two former presidents of the Branch. She gave an account of the General Council meeting and some recommendations coming forth from it. She reported that W.M.S. hospitals must come up to standards set by the Ontario Hospital Commission but this expense will be somewhat reimbursed by the increased rates. She said that all the women of the church must become totally united. "If we believe that Christ has no other hands but ours to do His will, let us forget we have a left and a right hand but only hands," she said.

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott, of Tweed, conducted the morning session with an impressive memorial service.

Afternoon Session

Mrs. Pierce Jones, of Picton, First Vice-President of Presbyterial, was chairman of the afternoon session. Mrs. Leon Ward, of Rednersville, assisted by Mrs. Harold Ostrander, of Picton at the organ, conducted the opening worship with "Looking to Christ and not unto ourselves" as the theme.

Rev. Elizabeth Newthorpe, B.A., B.D., missionary on furlough from Central India, addressed the ladies. She answered the three questions she was asked most by audiences:

(1) Are missionaries wanted and needed in India; (2) Are Indian people taking on the responsibility heretofore accepted by our missionaries? (3) Are you going back, do you like it there, do you get lonesome?

Rev. Newthorpe started at question three by saying, yes, she was going back and that she was not lonesome. She had many friends among her co-workers, also who could be lonesome with a group of small children waiting to be looked after, a sick person waiting for your help, etc. In spite of the many differences, God has made all the same under the skin. Missionaries go prepared to stay and so settle down and make it their home.

There are 500,000,000 people in India, mostly non-Christian, so there is much to do. Yes the Indian people are accepting responsibility. However, there is shallowness, hypocrisy, lack of integrity in some leaders, but these are few, and these tragedies must be met and faced by the church in all countries. For many years the women of India have had a Presbyterial.

In 1947 the British left India but as the church is universal and has no political ties, no class distinction, the missionaries felt no compulsion to leave. All evangelical, educational and medical work is integrated under the church and missionaries are still needed for the vast task that is before them. She said they were asked upon leaving for furlough to each bring one missionary back with them. They want people whose commitment is genuine, who love people, who have no race prejudice, or sense of superiority, to do and serve where directed by the Church of India. She urged all to continue to study, give and pray, especially to pray that some young people will hear God's call to go.

Group conferences on the theme were conducted. Mrs. Pierce Jones' topic was "Strengthen your stakes through worship;" Mrs. George Carlisle, "Lengthen your cords through witness;" Mrs. C. W. Neeland, "Lengthen your cords through service;" Mrs. George Greer, "Lengthen your cords through education in younger groups."

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, of Stirling, presented the reading awards. Bloomfield Afternoon Auxiliary again won top honours by reading an average of 10.4 books per member per year.

Mrs. Maurice Clancy, of Holloway, presented the Mission Band awards, of 51 bands, 41 received awards.

Mrs. W. C. Haggerty reported for the Resolutions Committee and Mrs. C. E. Eggleston, of Stirling, for the Courtesy Committee.

Officers Installed

Mrs. J. H. McKinney installed the officers for 1959. She called on the President, Mrs. Clarence Holmes to close the meeting. Mrs. Holmes thanked the ladies for nominating her to the office and quoted "I can do all things in Him who strengthens me." Rev. E. V. C. Lewis, of Picton, pronounced the benediction.

Past President, Mrs. Lincoln Elliott, of Tweed; President, Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. George Carlisle, Stirling; Mrs. Jack Williams, Belleville; Mrs. Keith Bray, Ivanhoe; Mrs. H. E. Vennest, Enterprise; Mrs. Leon Ward, of Belleville; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Geo. Priest, Foxboro; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Chas. Johnston, Trenton; Treasurer, Mrs. R. G. NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

PEAT AS FERTILIZER

They're using peat to grow turnips in Newfoundland.

Tests at an illustration station on the island's east coast proved peat can be substituted when manure is in short supply.

O. S. Maybee of the Canada Department of Agriculture said various rates of peat were applied before seeding turnips, and ground limestone added at the rate of one ton to 10 tons of peat to neutralize the peat's acidity.

Result: Ten tons of peat per acre increased the turnip yield from 225 to 272 sacks (75 pounds), and 20 tons boosted the yield to 300 sacks.

At current prices, these increases were sufficient to repay amply the labor needed to apply the peat.

Soils in many areas of Newfoundland have been depleted of organic matter by continuous vegetable production, and well-developed deposits of peat, when available, can be used profitably to step up yields.

NEW DRUG EFFECTIVE IN SWINE DYSENTERY

Vibronic dysentery is a troublesome disease in some swine herds from time to time, reports the Ontario Veterinary College. The disease may affect swine of all ages. Losses may be as high as twenty-five per cent and it may re-occur frequently in a herd. Usually the disease is spread by bringing new animals into the herd from an infected farm or sale. Losses from the disease can be minimized if new additions to the herd are isolated for at least two weeks after purchase.

Field trials conducted by the College indicate that one of the new furacin group of drugs may be effective in controlling vibronic dysentery outbreaks on the farm. An early diagnosis of the disease by a veterinarian is essential if this treatment is to be used effectively.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION CONTROL BY LICENCE IS SOUGHT

All artificial insemination centres in Canada are to be licensed in order to establish a national semen, Health of Animals, Canada Department of Agriculture has announced.

Regulations under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, which previously laid down standards for imported semen, have been revised and extended.

They will require operators of semen-producing centres to maintain accurate records on the disposition of all semen.

Additionally, the regulations will standardize health requirements for bulls used in artificial insemination centres.

More than 10 percent of Canada's 5,033,600 cows were bred artificially in 1957. There were 17 semen producing and 131 semen purchasing organizations operating that year.

MOLDY SILAGE

Is it possible to keep silage from getting moldy?

Yes, states Prof. Merritt Wright, of the Department of Bacteriology, Ontario Agricultural College. The following precautions will help to prevent mold growth (remember that mold will grow only when air is present):

1. Have air-tight walls and doors on the silo.

2. Harvest the crop at the right time so that it contains enough moisture to pack well, and keep out air.

3. Pack the silage so that it will settle tightly against the walls.

4. If the crop is too mature or has been frozen, cut it into shorter pieces. If the crop is very dry, water may be added to make packing easier.

Moldy silage should always be fed with caution, warns the O.A.C. authority. Young stock and stock in high production are affected most by moldy silage.

NEW APPLE TREE TESTED

A Russian apple variety may play an important role in the development of a more winter-hardy Canadian apple tree.

This is the conclusion of Canadian Department of Agriculture officials after 20 years' observation of the Antonovka variety.

Various test winters since 1938 have shown that Antonovka trees topworked to the varieties Bancroft, Edgar, Kendall, Linda, Macoun, Red Boy and Sandow have done better than when the trees are grown on their own trunks.

Singleworked, or standard, trees of Kendall, Linda, Red Spy and Sandow, practically all perished during a series of test winters, while doubleworked trees of the same varieties, while injured to some extent, largely recovered and bore good crops.

The Antonovka wood that makes up the trunks and lower portion of the scaffold branches was not injured.

FARM SAFETY CONFERENCE ENDORSES FARM SAFETY PROGRAMME

A forward step in farm accident prevention was realized last week when more than 300 persons, representing 55 Ontario counties and districts, endorsed a proposed farm safety programme which was the basis of a two-day Farm Safety Conference held at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, under the joint sponsorship of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Ontario Department of Transport.

Safety authorities, from the Ontario Government and the United States, outlined the nature of the accident picture in agriculture, and on our highways, and revealed the measures, that have so far been taken to curb the accident toll.

Speaking for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, stated that "it is a recognized fact that machinery, livestock, fires, falls and highway accidents all contribute to make farming a very hazardous occupation. It follows that it is our duty to undertake a program of safety education that will assist in preventing needless loss of life and injury that is all too common today."

Dr. J. D. MacLachlan, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, pointed out that it was useless to strive for increased productivity, better husbandry, and more efficiency in farming if the price that had to be paid was injury and accidents to the farm people concerned. Prof. C. G. Downing, head of the Department of Engineering Science at the O.A.C., disclosed that the idea of promoting safety was not new with the Department of Agriculture; for years the Department, through its Agricultural Representatives and through organized programmes with 4-H clubs, home-makers, junior farmers, and rural people generally, had been engaged in a safety programme.

"But we have to go even further," states T. R. Hilliard, Director of Extension, Ontario Department of Agriculture, under whose supervision the Farm Accident Survey will begin on March 1st. "Just as improved farming practices are the result of scientific research applied to actual farming conditions, so can a sound farm safety programme result only from research on actual farm accidents. Once the research is completed, farm safety programmes can then be devised, which are based on actual farming conditions."

The Extension Director disclosed that the survey will record all farm accidents over the one-year period, March 1st, 1959 to February 29th, 1960. Although the accident survey will be province-wide in scope, he stressed that a prime objective of the survey would be to provide a county and district farm accident picture, so that a specific safety programme could be undertaken for each area.

He revealed that the survey will be conducted mainly by farm people with the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Agriculture branch offices. He estimated that approximately 7,000 rural persons had offered to serve as accident reporters. He emphasized that reports would be confidential, in that no names of persons or location of farms would be revealed, but that this confidential information would be used to prepare a safety education programme. The statistics obtained from the survey will be available to any organization interested in a safety programme. Mr. Hilliard solicited the co-operation of rural people in carrying out the survey so that an effective farm safety programme may be devised for Ontario farm people.

The delegates to the conference supported the Department's Farm Accident Survey. Mr. Gordon Greer, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture; Miss Kathleen Homan, President of the Junior Farmers of Ontario; and Mrs. James Haggerty, President of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario all pledged ed the support of the accident survey by their respective organizations.

BALED SILAGE

Valuable forage crops can be harvested efficiently by a field baler and stored satisfactorily in a horizontal silo, according to W. E. Cordukes of the Central Experimental Farm, in Ottawa.

All field balers cannot be adapted for harvesting forages for silage. A square chambered, string-tyng type with a suitable pickup for handling green material is required. The tripping device must be adjusted to trip twice as often as in hay harvesting to produce a "half bale" weighing 50 to 70 pounds.

In field tests at Ottawa, a baler equipped with a loading chute and a flat wagon tied behind the baler, worked very well in the harvesting operation. By driving the loaded wagon through a horizontal silo and dropping the bales off the back and sides, hand labour was reduced to a minimum. This operation was facilitated when the loaded wagon had a sufficient number of bales to provide a complete layer of bales for the silo. The standard bale elevator was also used for unloading but was too slow and cumbersome for this operation. Bales should be carefully placed lengthwise across the silo and care taken to avoid open spaces between the bales.

In 1957, baled forage was stored in horizontal silos in two ways. In one silo, bales were placed systematically, as described earlier and each layer compacted with a tractor. In a second silo, bales were similarly placed, but bale strings were cut and the bales lightly covered with green forage. This latter treatment greatly improved packing operations.

Resulting silages were of good quality and similar to long uncut forages ensiled by other methods. However, the silage resulting from the treatment of cutting the bale strings and layering with forage, had less spoilage and appeared to be of slightly better quality. Forages containing more than 25 percent dry matter should not be ensiled by this method.

Allergies

Many people are so sensitive to some substances that they are affected to the point of having a skin rash, hay fever or digestive upsets. The condition is known as an allergy and it may be something that is touched, inhaled or swallowed. Some of the allergies may cause a very annoying and painful skin eruption or some form of asthma. It is sometimes difficult to discover the substance that causes the trouble so, at any symptom of sensitivity, a doctor should be consulted.

Considering its age this is a mighty fast old world.

10 Percent of Population Have Hearing Loss

The Canadian Hearing Society is a non-sectarian, beneficial social agency and is dependent upon donations from the public for the continuance of its activities. The purpose of the Society is to give free help to those who have impaired hearing.

It has been reliably estimated that some 10 percent of the population have a hearing loss and that there are about ten thousand who are completely deaf in Canada today. Nowadays, the public has become familiar with the implications of impaired eyesight, but most people do not yet really appreciate the significance of partial or complete banishment from the world of sound. Much can be done to help those who suffer from a hearing deficiency. Since its inception, this Society has been able to give free aid to thousands of such persons of all ages by means of the services which it offers.

These services may be summed up as follows:

(a) Placement in gainful occupations for the very hard of hearing and

We Ought To Learn

There are five things in life which we ought to learn. Here they are:

1. Learn how to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. When you smile or laugh, your brain for a moment is freed from the load it ordinarily carries.

2. Learn to tell a helpful story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room.

3. Learn to keep your problems to yourself. The world is too busy to linger over your ills and sorrows.

4. Learn to stop complaining. If you cannot see any good in this world, keep the bad to yourself.

5. Learn to greet your friends with a smile. They carry too many troubles in their own hearts to be bothered with any of yours.
